FINANCE COMMISSION URGES FOR WEST

U.S. LEGISLATORS RUSH BILL FOR STABILIZATION

Monetary Bill to Be Brought Up in House To-morrow Following Approval To-day By Coinage Committee of Measures, Including $2,000,000,000 Fund

U.S. Dollar Gains In Foreign Markets

Washington, Jan. 18.—Formally reporting approval of the United States administration's money measure, House of Representatives coinage committee to-day said Great Britain had forced the United States off the gold standard, and the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund was intended "to prevent a repetition of this experience."

With the United States dollar giving below 85 to the pound on the foreign exchange market, Democratic House leaders were rushing plans to bring the monetary legislation up in the House to-morrow.

Great Britain's operation of her equalization fund, the committee formally reported to the house, "was so effective in driving our dollar up that we were forced off the gold standard."

It is to prevent a repetition of this experience that we create the stabilization fund preparatory to the return to gold redemption."

WARNS AGAINST FAST DRIVING

Magistrate Jay Says Dangerous Practice Must Stop; Three Pay Fines

A warning against fast driving in the city was issued by Magistrate George Jay in city police court this morning when he fined three persons convicted on driving to the common danger charges.

"Day after day men come in here because they have been driving too fast," he said. "This practice must stop. Many of them say they cannot pay their fines but that is no excuse and the day will come when I will have to make fines payable forthwith and not allow time for payment as I have done. Fast driving is a menace to the community and must be stopped."

Those fined were Charles Hannah, 820; Mihinder Singh, 420, and D. M. Martin, 525.

CLEARINGS UP 10 PER CENT

An increase of slightly over 10 per cent is shown by the bank clearing totals in Victoria for the week ending to-day as compared with the corresponding period last year, according to figures released this morning by the Victoria Clearing House. The actual clearings were $1,456,913 and $1,321,101 respectively.

Life Saving Plan Is Given Full Support

Move Receives Backing of Local Organizations; Subscriptions Donated

The move to establish life saving stations along the Dallas Road waterfront, instituted yesterday by Kenneth McGehee, has met with approval in the city, and while some subscriptions have already been received, several local organizations are discussing plans to raise funds for the scheme, Mr. Gehee stated this morning.

Outstanding among the fund-raising plans is that proposed by the Revellers' Service Club, which has endorsed the proposal wholeheartedly and will give total net proceeds from a dance to be held in the Empress Hotel, February 16, towards the campaign.

RIFLE RANGE AT SCHOOL OPPOSED

Chatham, Ont., Jan. 18.—Mrs. M. H. Lawrence, chairman of the Chatham board of education, has declared her opposition to a manly rifle range in school basement because it "tends toward militarism."

AUSTRIA GIVES HITLER WARNING

Vienna, Jan. 18.—Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss to-night warned Germany that force might be used against her if what he described as the Reich's present aggressive attitude toward Austria were continued.

ST. PAUL MAN IS ABDUCTED

Gangsters Hold E. G. Bremer, Minnesota Bank Head, For $200,000 Ransom

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 18.—Kidnapers demanding $200,000 ransom yesterday abducted Edward G. Bremer, son of Adolph Bremer, wealthy St. Paul brewer and prominent Democrat of Minnesota, police said to-day.

The thirty-seven-year-old president of the Commercial State Bank was picked up by several men between 8:15 and 10 a.m. Wednesday on his return from Chicago.

The police said they had received no official notification of the abduction and members of the Bremer family refused to discuss it.

Abduction of Bremer, whose father owns a controlling interest in the Jacob Schmidt Brewing Company, followed by seven months the kidnapping of William Hamm Jr., millionaire president of the Theodore Hamm Brewing Company, who paid $100,000 for his freedom last June.

Otto Bremer, chairman of the board of directors of the American National Bank here and Minnesota manager of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation, is an uncle of the missing man, who was seized after taking his eight-year-old daughter, Betty, to the Summit Grove School. The kidnapers apparently stopped his automobile and took both him and the car.

An alleged anonymous telephone call came to Walter W. Magee, wealthy contractor, from a man speaking in a low voice. Magee was told the Bremer car could be found in the Highland Park district of St. Paul, and that there was a note on the back door step of Magee's home.

THREAT OF DEATH
Death for the wealthy bank president was threatened by the abductors if negotiations for his release called in police or communicated with the newspapers, it was learned.

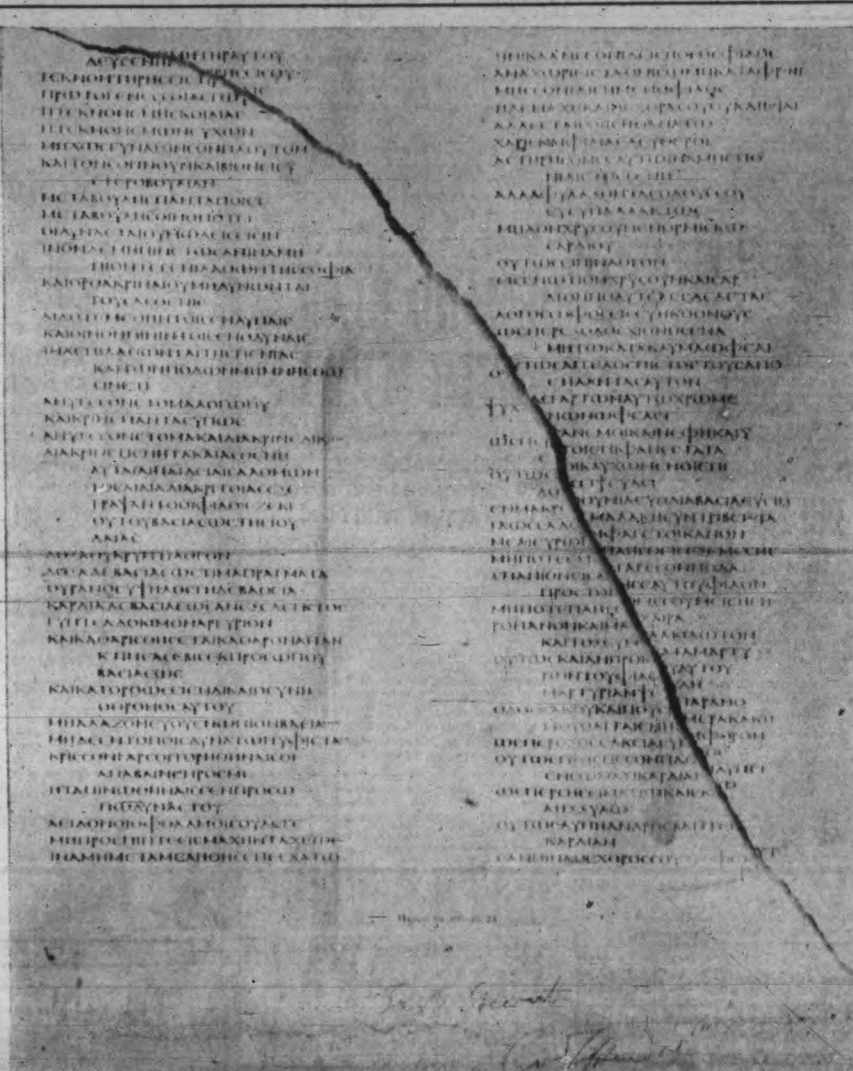

U. S. RECOGNITION
Washington, Jan. 18.—Recognition of Cuba by the United States within a reasonable time is a possibility as a result of what the administration considers the clarification of Cuba's affairs through the selection of Col. Carlos Mendiolaza as President and the ouster of the army and navy in the island.

It is also indicated that the Poul Bay Community Association which will discuss arrangements for having a memorial for the late Dr. Fred Harling, in the form of a life saving station, will align itself with Mr. Gehee's plan and co-operate fully.

In the meantime, a committee, consisting of Mr. Gehee, B. C. Gillie of the Revellers' Club, and Major F. V. Longstaff, has been formulated to handle the arrangements. It is hoped that all organizations interested in the movement will name a representative for this committee to make the plan successful with united support. Major Longstaff, who is well acquainted with the operation of life saving stations, has volunteered his services in the interest of preventing a recurrence of Monday night's tragedy.

Mr. Gehee is anxious to have all interested communicate with him at rooms 614-15 Bayward Building.

NEW TREASURE FOR PROVINCIAL ARCHIVES

Above is reproduced the facsimile of a page from the Codex Sinaiticus, which was presented to the provincial library last week by J. M. Stewart. The original manuscript of the codex was recently sold by the Soviet government to the British Museum for $500,000. The facsimile, shown above, was presented by Count Michael Tischenov, the discoverer of the codex in a monastery at Mount Sinai, to Mr. Stewart's father, a minister in Scotland. The black jagged line is a crack in the parchment.

Britain Drafts New Disarmament Plan For Discussion

Boys May Have To Be Wallflowers At College Dance

Girls may not only invite and pay for boys but may choose their dancing partners, note indicates "Dutch treat" losing out in favor of "co-ed" dances.

If there are any shirking wallflowers at the Valentine dance being arranged by the Victoria College students they will probably be boys rather than girls. They are voting now on whether the dance shall be a "co-ed" or "Dutch treat."

In the "co-ed" dance the girls invite the boys and choose dancing partners at the dance itself. In the "Dutch treat" the expenses are divided between the two partners, but the girls choose dancing partners as in the "co-ed."

The "Dutch treat" was the first suggested and everyone rapidly responded, but when a paper headed "Those who prefer a co-ed dance please sign below," appeared on the notice board the "Dutch treat" notice became a mass of scratched-out names. Another paper had to be added to accommodate the names of all the "co-ed" supporters.

As things stand, now at Victoria College it looks as though the women will pay. It is "Dutch" the boys will pay half the bill, but should it be "co-ed" the girls will pay the whole bill after consultation with their partners. There appears to be no chance of a return to the old-fashioned dances when the boys paid for everything and danced with whom they pleased.

Tucker Prison Farm, Ark., Jan. 18.—Three convicts were killed and two wounded to-day after they had assaulted a trusty guard in what prison officials described as an attempted wholesale prison delivery.

Ottawa Conference Hears Suggestion Prairie and B.C. Position Be Explored

NO BIG LIQUOR TAX CUT YET

B.C. Delegates at Conference Learn Ottawa Government Watching

Ottawa, Jan. 18.—A policy of watchful waiting is understood to be the policy of the Dominion government on the question of reducing the excise tax on liquor. The matter was discussed at the Dominion-Provincial Conference here to-day when British Columbia representatives, fearing a boom in the bootlegging trade with lower-priced liquor available in the United States, moved for lower taxes.

The Pacific Coast representatives suggested there also should be reduction in liquor profits by the various provinces so as to bring the liquor prices in Canada to a lower level, it is understood.

Among the representatives of the provinces, there was a somewhat general agreement the present levy of $7 a gallon on spirits was too heavy. It recently was reduced from $9. The new federal tax on liquor in the United States is $2 a gallon, and it was felt the liquor commissions of the provinces should be enabled to keep their prices in line with prices across the border if a wave of smuggling and illegal liquor selling is to be avoided.

In view of the possibility the United States might raise its federal tax, the Dominion government was understood to be unwilling to slash its tax prematurely.

FIRST TO REACH STRICKEN BOAT

Jack Rennie, of 2044 Quimper Street, might have been the lone hero of the episode at Foul Bay Monday afternoon. Handling a frail boat by himself, he was the first of the rescuers to reach Mrs. C. Bales and L. A. Hinder and their upturned boat. While he was helping Mrs. Bales into his own boat a wave threw him into the sea as well. Wearing heavy gumboots, he then had a desperate struggle for his own life and was rescued by Hugh Vallant and Jack Kemp.

Princess Maquinna Crashes Into Ship

Hits Ss. Masunda in Fog Off Port Alberni This Morning; Bows of Both Ships Damaged; May Drydock Here

Damage to the bows of both ships was caused in dense fog shortly after 5 o'clock this morning when the Ss. Princess Maquinna of Victoria crashed into the lumber freighter Masunda at Port Alberni. After preliminary survey the Princess Maquinna proceeded down the canal en route to Victoria, and will reach here at 8 o'clock this evening.

The Masunda was anchored in the stream, off Port Alberni, where she was loading lumber from barges. The Princess Maquinna let her dock at Port Alberni at 5 o'clock this morning. Several plates on the government barge were damaged. She was just a short distance from the wharf and was proceeding slowly in the fog with her whistle sounding when she crashed into the starboard bow of the freighter. She backed away immediately and dropped anchor nearby. When it was ascertained she was seaworthy she proceeded to this port.

MAY DRYDOCK HERE
Surveyors from Victoria and Vancouver this morning went to Port Alberni to examine the damage sustained by the Masunda. It is probable the ship will have to come to Esquimalt harbor for docking in the government basin. Several plates are thought damaged, and will have to be replaced. The bow of the Princess Maquinna is also bent. Robert Thomson was in command of the passenger ship.

It was announced at the offices of the B.C. Coast Service this morning that the Princess Maquinna would go to drydock to-morrow and would be off her land to the west coast of Vancouver Island for ten days. Her sailing to West Coast ports on Sunday evening will be taken by the Ss. Princess Norah, which will be in port from Alaska.

The Masunda, along with several other ships, was loading a large parcel registered at 5,250 tons, with a length of 402 feet, a beam of fifty-five feet and a depth of twenty-eight feet. Built at the plant of A. Stephen and Sons on the Clyde, her home port is Glasgow. The Princess Maquinna is one of the veteran ships of the British Columbia coast trade. She was built in 1913 at the Esquimalt plant of the B.C. Marine Works, now the Tarrow plant, and is registered at 1,777 tons, with a length of 232 feet, a beam of thirty-eight feet and a depth of fourteen feet.

LONDON GOLD PRICE
Montreal, Jan. 18 (Canadian Press).—The price of bar gold in London to-day was $33.63 an ounce in terms of the Canadian dollar, based on the London price of $32.104, and the quotation of sterling in Montreal at $5.054. Yesterday the Canadian equivalent was $33.47.

ATHENS, Jan. 18 (Associated Press).—Samuel Jassili, 31, former Chicago utilities operator, was in bed here to-day because of what his physicians described as a weak heart.

Premier of Quebec Advocates Financial Recovery Possibilities of Canada West of Great Lakes Be Investigated; Public Work Plan Remains Keynote of Dominion-Provincial Conference

Bennett Speaks Of Tax Burdens

Ottawa, Jan. 18.—A gradual shunting back to the provinces of the entire responsibility for their own financing is apparently the desire of the Dominion Government and of the older provinces of the east, according to meagre information secured after the noon adjournment of the Dominion-Interprovincial Conference here to-day.

It would appear Mr. Bennett, Premier of Ontario and Premier Taschereau of Quebec find themselves on common ground with regard to provincial financing and future relief operations. The Ontario Premier and the federal Prime Minister agree in principle on the Taschereau plan of long-term financing for relief and public-works operations, relieving the municipalities, then removing as quickly as possible the system of direct relief.

Mr. Taschereau also placed before the conference a suggestion that a royal commission be appointed to investigate the financial recovery possibilities of the four western provinces. He believed they were in debt beyond hope of self-salvation and only a royal commission could adequately study and seek a solution of their difficulties.

To continue further an affair have been conducted in recent years, he said, would be impossible.

Excise and customs taxes on liquors, placed on the agenda by Premier Paulin of British Columbia, were taken up shortly before the adjournment. The Maritimes were heard this morning in a plea by Hon. August L. Macdonald, premier of Nova Scotia, who sought support from the whole conference on his appeal for complete implementation of the Quinlan Commission's report.

Premier Macdonald asked the question of subsidies to the Maritimes be studied in line with the Duncan report.

INDIA EARTHQUAKE TOLL STILL MOUNTS

Chinese Adopt Tiny White Boy

Mr. and Mrs. Lim Won Will Bring Up Six Months Old Baby as Their Own, Supreme Court Is Told

A six-month-old white boy was yesterday adopted by a Chinese couple of Victoria, by permission of Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald in the Supreme Court in Vancouver.

The Chinese couple are Lim Won, employed as gardener at the Young Brothers' Greenhouse on Shelbourne Street, and his wife, Lim Loo Shee. He is forty-two years of age, and his wife twenty-eight.

The baby will bear the name of Bryan Denis Lim, and will be brought up in the religion of his foster parents, who are Protestants.

Bihar District Alone Now Believed to Have Lost Over 2,500 Persons

Canadian Press and Associated Press
Calcutta, Jan. 18.—At least 2,500 persons were killed in the Bihar district alone in the terrific earthquake shocks which shook all India Monday a government announcement said to-day.

Apparently the city which suffered most was Muzaffarpur, officials said, where the earthquake deaths now are known to total 600, while it is estimated several hundred were killed in Monghyr.

Impeding rescue efforts, roads to Muzaffarpur are impassable and in the city indescribable scenes of horror were reported with waiting mothers searching through the debris and homeless and, in some cases, orphaned children wandering about, stunned by the catastrophe.

Measures to succor surviving sufferers in the area and to avert threatened pestilence in villages where hundreds of corpses lay in the streets engaged the attention of police and volunteer workers to-day.

It was learned to-day that a Miss Christian, wife of a European planter at Darbhanga, was among those killed there.

Bihar, a tract in British India, has a total area of 36,898 square miles and a population of well over 21,000,000.

Steamship Lines' Operations Merged

New York, Jan. 18.—The New York Times today said that after negotiations which lasted for two years a merger between the White Star and Cunard Steamship Lines was now in effect.

Since January 1 the accounts of the two companies, afloat and ashore, had been one, the paper reported, adding the news had been brought here yesterday by the White Star liner Olympic. It had not yet been announced publicly on either side of the Atlantic.

A. B. Cauty, general manager of the White Star Line, who was to have retired on December 31, will retain his post until June, said The Times.

U.S. Dollar Makes Net Gain in London

London, Jan. 18.—The United States dollar moved against sterling here again today toward its own parity to $4.97. There it was 6 1/2 cents net higher.

The French franc strengthened to close at 79.65 to the pound against 80.15 Wednesday.

The gold price rose to 132.10, a fine ounce. It was reported the United States secured the bulk of the £725,000 in gold offered on the open market.

MANY ARRESTS SEEN IN VIENNA

Bombs Set Off at Station as Italian Official Arrives; Nazis Demonstrate

Vienna, Jan. 18.—Three bombs exploded in front of a railway station here today as Nazis demonstrated in connection with the arrival of Fulvio Suvich, Italian Under-secretary of State, to confer with Austrian officials. Police made 940 arrests before noon. Nazis were demonstrating throughout the nation.

Suvich was greeted by Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss and the Austrian cabinet.

The purpose of the visit was not disclosed, but it was believed possible the statesmen would confer on the possibility of making Trieste a free port in order to improve Austrian trade.

BIG SWING IN LUMBER TRADES REPORTED

B.C. Lumber and Shingle Association Hears Statement at Meeting in Vancouver

Vancouver, Jan. 18.—Although sale of British Columbia lumber in Canadian and United States markets was reduced by 1,242,331,000 feet between 1929 and 1933, tremendous gains in the United Kingdom, China, Australia and Africa last year have made up the loss to a large extent.

Such was the gist of a lengthy report of the trade extension committee of the B.C. Lumber and Shingle Manufacturers' Association at the organization's annual meeting today.

In the United Kingdom and China, British Columbia sales were more than doubled in 1933. In Australia the market is "practically captured," while Africa absorbed more than two times the amount of lumber it imported from this province in 1932, according to the report.

Sales of British Columbia lumber in world markets during the year totaled 61,221,061 feet, an increase of 48 per cent over 1932, according to figures compiled by Pacific Lumber Inspection Bureau and included in the report.

Empire markets, Great Britain, India, New Zealand, South Sea Islands, United Kingdom and West Indies, absorbed 428,847,506 feet, an increase of 70.6 per cent.

Exports to the United Kingdom were 270,208,051 feet, a new record and a gain of 150 per cent over 1932. Another record shipment, 130,596,268 feet, was sent to China. This was a gain of 145 per cent over last year. Japan used approximately the same amount of B.C. lumber, but South Africa raised its import to 18,213,254 feet, a gain of 222 per cent.

TRAIN WRECKED IN MANCHUKUO

Bandits Derail Cars and Four Passengers Are Burned to Death

Manchukuo, Jan. 18.—Bandits struck again today at the Trans-Siberian express on the Chinese Eastern Railway.

Removing rails, an outlaw band wrecked the westbound express, derailing five cars. Four passengers were burned to death in the flaming wreckage. Twenty-nine were injured.

Eight passengers were killed when bandits wrecked and pillaged an east-bound international train near Taitshar on December 5.

Three weeks before that outrage, a train was derailed and two Japanese soldiers slain as they tried to beat off the attacking bandits.

DEMAND BEER WITH MEALS

B.C. Restaurant Owners Urge Law Permitting Light Drinks to Be Served With Food

Vancouver, Jan. 18.—Members of the British Columbia Restaurant Men's Association have decided to urge passage when the Provincial Legislature meets next month of legislation providing for sale of beer and light wines with meals throughout the province.

Declaring their action is a result of public demand, officials of the organization added that in the United States and the province of Quebec restaurants are permitted to serve wines and beer when unable to secure such liquors with their meals here, officials continued. They also contended that passage of such legislation would materially lessen "secret" drinking.

U.S. Legislators Rush Bill For Stabilization

abroad as well as domestically as agent for the United States Treasury.

Mr. Morgenthau declined, however, to give the amount of purchases either of newly mined metal or of foreign bar gold.

Newsman mentioned to the Secretary that the United States dollar had strengthened considerably in London today, breaking the more than five-to-one ratio with the pound for the first time in months, but Mr. Morgenthau declined.

WOULD BE USEFUL

"If you had the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund now, would you employ it to cheapen the dollar?" Mr. Morgenthau was asked.

"I'll say this," he replied. "If we had the stabilization fund at this time it would be very useful."

Mr. Morgenthau also said: "We have a profit on our gold purchases even without calculating in revaluation."

Mr. Morgenthau's statement the stabilization fund would be "very useful" was taken in some quarters as an indication that devaluation of the dollar by presidential proclamation quickly would follow enactment of President Roosevelt's money bill.

NO STATEMENT ON AGREEMENT

Mr. Morgenthau declined to answer whether he foresaw an informal agreement or understanding with Britain regarding use of the stabilization funds in each country and a ratio between the dollar and the pound.

"Do you expect a tug-of-war with Britain over money?" he was asked.

"I don't know," he replied.

New York, Jan. 18.—The United States dollar rose in London today over the pound sterling to a figure not seen since early in November, and also improved against the French franc.

Apparently it was the result of movement back of capital that the United States in recent months for Washington stated it had been buying gold abroad, a process that normally would send the dollar down.

Unofficially, the dollar's sterling and the Canadian dollar softened in New York.

CUBA IS GIVEN NEW PRESIDENT

Carlos Mendieta Sworn in as Fifth Chief in Five Months

Havana, Jan. 18.—Carlos Mendieta, sixty-year-old physician, statesman and revolutionary, today was made President of Cuba, the fifth president in as many months.

Mendieta entered an office which had been vacant overnight, since Carlos Hevia, who had held office forty hours, suddenly resigned.

The presidency was given to Mendieta by acclamation of a group of Cuban political life who gathered in the palace.

The inaugural oath was given by the supreme court.

Previous to his acceptance, Manuel Marquez Sterling, Secretary of State under Hevia, had refused his constitutional right to become President himself, preferring that Mendieta should take office without delay.

LONG HOME RULE FIGHT

Mr. Devlin fought the greater part of his life for home rule for Ireland. In politics Mr. Devlin gave many hard knocks, but before an important speech he always shivered, could not sleep and invariably began in a trembling voice with his hands shaking. But as he warmed to his task he forgot everything in a torrent of words.

Mr. Devlin was a devout Roman Catholic.

TRIBUTES TO CAREER

Tributes came from all sides today. Lord Craigavon, Premier of Ulster, said: "His disappearance from public life will be greatly mourned."

He said I was in opposite political camps for over thirty years and fought for our respective parties, necessary at times with keen enmity, but throughout I never entertained anything but admiration for his personal character," said the Premier.

Cardinal MacRory said: "Mr. Devlin was a great personality of Belfast and North Ireland. He will be a great loss to Irish nationalism."

From 1921, when the north was separated from the south of Ireland, until 1929, Mr. Devlin sat in the Ulster Parliament. Since 1929 Mr. Devlin had sat for Fermanagh and Tyrone in the British House of Commons.

SHIP LOOTED BY PIRATES LANDS

Shanghai, Jan. 18.—The steamer Posen, looted by pirates near Tsingtau last Saturday, arrived here today (ten passengers short—one had died of fright and nine were abducted by the pirates).

Fifteen pirates were aboard the 6,000-ton ship as passengers. They mistook trunkloads of Chinese funeral imitation banknotes to be used as ransom for the dead for genuine articles. When, after holding up crew and passengers at gunpoint, they discovered their error, they dumped the bogus money overboard. Then they ran the ship. One frightened passenger fell dead.

Nearby Swatow, the thieves kidnapped the nine wealthiest passengers, including one woman, picked up their loot, commandeered some fishing smacks and sailed ashore.

SUGAR BEET PLEA MADE

Toronto, Jan. 18.—The Dominion's sugar beet farmers have a spokesman of their plea of oppression at the Dominion-Provincial Conference in Ottawa in the person of Premier George S. Henry, according to a report published in The Mail and Empire today from its Ottawa correspondent.

The report said the Ontario Premier would draw to the attention of the delegates the claims of sugar beet growers "that the monetary return on their season's crop, after growing, hauling and actual sale, is no greater than the revenue of the Dominion government derives from its excise tax on the sugar crop produce."

ANTI-OPIMUM MEASURES

JOSEPH DEVLIN PASSES AWAY

Irish Nationalist Leader Dies After Long Illness in Belfast

Belfast, Ireland, Jan. 18.—Joseph Devlin, veteran Nationalist leader of Ireland, died here early today. He was sixty-two years old.

Known as the "Irish Demosthenes," Mr. Devlin was one of the foremost Irish politicians for more than thirty years.

He died peacefully after a long illness which kept him out of the campaign in the last election.

Because of his great oratorical powers, Mr. Devlin was chosen by the Nationalist leader, John Redmond, to go on several missions to the United States to collect funds in 1902. In six missions to the United States and one to Australia he brought home large sums of money for his party.

His silver voice made Westminster ring with the woes of Ireland when he was a member of the House of Commons in the years prior to the Irish treaty.

port and an adjustment made. He also asked that a commission representative of the Dominion and the provinces be appointed to explore the possibility of a re-arrangement of the taxation sources in view of the absolute necessity of all the provinces finding new sources of revenue.

The provincial premiers were guests of the Governor-General at luncheon today. This evening Prime Minister Bennett will entertain the delegates at dinner.

TIME FOR A CHANGE

So far as could be learned, the general opinion expressed at the conference today was that the Dominion had acted properly in coming to the rescue of the provinces as it had in the past, but it was felt the time had come when some new procedure should be adopted that would offer a hope for early return to a system which would restrict provincial expenditures to income.

It was assumed a plan of financing will be put forward that will offer some reasonable hope of eventual refunding, coupled with drastic reduction in expenditures which bring no return.

Earlier yesterday the provincial premiers took under consideration a proposal from the Dominion government that, in the near future—four or five months hence—a federal public works scheme should be launched to furnish living wages to the great majority of the unemployed in an attempt to banish the social menace of a prolonged system of direct relief.

The proposal carries with it the condition that the provinces undertake to assume full responsibility for whatever direct relief it may still be found necessary to grant within their borders.

Germany's reply to the French memorandum, transmitted to Berlin January 13, was that the French demand for disarmament was "unrealistic and impracticable."

The memorandum, it was learned today, was again "prepared to give a lead."

Meanwhile the German consulate, which almost faces the League of Nations building, flew a large swastika flag in honor of the founding of the pre-war empire. An armed Swiss policeman patrolled before the consulate.

PUBLIC WORKS

The public works plan remains the keynote of the conference. It would appear all the provinces have taken a definite stand against continuation of direct relief if at all possible to direct the army of unemployed back to useful occupations.

Assisted land settlement advanced by the Saskatchewan delegation remains to be discussed.

CHARGES ANSWERED

At yesterday afternoon's session of the conference reports of charges leveled by eastern government officials that the western provinces had received more than their share of financial assistance and had, perhaps, not been as economical as they might have been, were answered by some speakers.

The picture was painted of the great open spaces, sparsely populated but peopled by those who demanded the same modern services of highways and social amenities as those enjoyed by the densely populated east which had set the standard of living.

Research would divulge, the west-

NEEDS VARY

Ottawa, Jan. 18.—Varying needs and points of view of Canada's three great economic divisions, the Maritimes, the Central Provinces of Quebec and Ontario and the West were brought out in bold relief as ministers of the federal and provincial governments continued in conference here today to thresh out problems of mutual interest.

While noting this natural cleavage a leading delegate said he also found a more optimistic spirit at this gathering than at the one held a year ago. The Maritime Provinces were able to report a somewhat better position, Ontario and Quebec were definitely in a strong position, and the West, while still with little visible sign of improvement, was more hopeful.

Each area, however, had an entirely different condition, and on the whole the representatives of each had little conception of the problems confronting the others, it was stated.

The troubles of Ontario and Quebec were due to industrial stagnation while the prairies were afflicted with crop failures and lack of agricultural markets. From both these all-impairing conditions the provinces were more or less free but the general falling off in trade made the effects of their isolated geographical condition more acute.

EQUAL SUPERVISION

Paris, Jan. 18.—France has informed Germany that "automatic, periodic and equal supervision" of all armaments must be the foundation of any disarmament agreement, it was learned today.

The answer was expected daily.

The memorandum, it was learned on highest authority, made the following points:

1. Any new non-aggression pact must offer additional guarantees of security without weakening the old ones.

2. Supervision of armaments must be accepted by all nations signing the pact.

3. Any consideration of Germany's army strength must take into account police and other organized forces, such as the Nazi Storm Troops.

4. France is willing to reduce her army on a parallel with transformation of the German army into a similar defensive short-term conscript army.

5. France is willing to halt her arma-

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

FARMERS STATE VIEWS ON C.C.F.

Alberta Agrarians Make Reservations in Declaration on Federal Nominations

By SAM ROSS

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Edmonton, Jan. 18.—The United Farmers of Alberta to-day had cited its basis of nomination in federal elections under affiliation with the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation.

After lengthy sessions yesterday bringing recommendations on education, short term and intermediate credits, aid to needy jobless and hard-pressed farmers as well as other problems, the convention late yesterday evening chose the medium of exceptions for its nominations in co-operation with the C.C.F.

While expressing every hope for the success of the C.C.F. programme, Robert Gardiner, just re-elected as president of the U.F.A., declared exceptions to U.F.A. principles rather than amendment to the principles was the surest way to guarantee identity of the farm body. He termed the C.C.F. an "experiment" which, if successful, would bring benefits to the masses. Yet failure of the C.C.F. would leave the U.F.A. in a predicament should its declaration of principles be altered.

U.F.A.-C.C.F. CANDIDATES

The declaration of principles was first amended to provide co-operation between the U.F.A. and other bodies affiliated with the C.C.F. in making nominations in federal elections. The exceptions provide for U.F.A.-nominated candidates to be known as U.F.A.-C.C.F. and for the farm body to take part in joint nominating conventions.

INFORMER GETS AUTOMOBILE

Toronto, Jan. 18 (Canadian Press).—As a "common informer," Leslie Saunders, telephone employee of Niagara Falls, yesterday was awarded an automobile won by William Morrison, bank clerk, in a draw held at a service club carnival last July. Mr. Justice Charles Garrow made the award.

FIGURES IN $10,000,000 SUIT

A battle of financial giants was started with the filing of a suit in New York by August Heckscher (left), millionaire philanthropist, who seeks $10,000,000 damages from John D. Rockefeller Jr. (right), and others in control of Rockefeller Centre. Heckscher charges "unfair and unlawful" practices in the renting of office space in Rockefeller buildings.

PHILIPPINE INDEPENDENCE

Washington, Jan. 18 (Associated Press).—Independence for the Philippines within two or three years, providing the United States grants a ten-year period of preferential trade relations after independence, was proposed by President Roosevelt yesterday. An alternative the mission, headed by Manuel L. Quezon, president of the Philippine Senate, proposed a flat grant of independence on July 4, 1940.

DAVID LAMAR FUNERAL

New York, Jan. 18 (Associated Press).—David Lamar, the "Wolf of Wall Street," who made fortunes in stock operations and squandered them, was saved from the potter's field yesterday. Three men, who years ago as head waiters were tipped handsomely for giving Lamar the best of service, came forward and paid for the funeral services and cemetery plot. Their names were not disclosed.

Fruitgrowers Vote For Merger Scheme

More Publicity Is Trade Need

Canada Could Extend Shipments to Empire Countries, Says R. L. Calder

Canadian Press

Quebec, Jan. 18.—Lack of publicity for Canadian products was one of the main reasons for the presence in markets of this country of foreign goods, R. L. Calder, K.C., of Montreal, told the Association of Fruit and Vegetable Dealers at their annual banquet yesterday evening.

Canada should take the opportunity offered in British markets, he said. Only in forming such connections would the British Empire some day be independent from a commercial point of view and in a position to place a ruling hand some day on certain world-wide markets now controlled by other nations.

F. Hyerson, Brantford, Ont., was elected president for the ensuing year and George Stronak, Toronto, vice-president. S. Chesa, Vancouver, was named a director.

The next convention probably will be held in Winnipeg.

SEARCH FAILS

Livingston, Mont., Jan. 18 (Associated Press).—Searching parties yesterday abandoned the hunt for Roy Marshall, Lewistown contractor, missing since January 9. Marshall disappeared while hunting elk. A thorough search of the big game country failed to reveal a trace of him.

At Kelowna Convention B.C. Fruitgrowers' Association Declares For Amalgamation With Growers' Stabilization Committee

Kelowna, B.C., Jan. 18.—The question of amalgamation of the B.C. Fruitgrowers' Association with the Growers' Stabilization Committee came up at yesterday afternoon's session of the annual convention of the B.C.F.G.A. here. A resolution which was carried reads:

"Be it resolved that this convention approve of the B.C.F.G.A. becoming amalgamated with the Growers' Stabilization Committee under one body."

The resolution was a delicate one because there are now three fruitgrowers' organizations, namely, the Independent Growers' Association, the Growers' Stabilization Committee and the B.C.F.G.A.

The B.C.F.G.A. has a membership of 85 per cent of the Okanagan growers according to the statement of the secretary, but these figures are challenged. The Growers' Stabilization Committee is backed by almost 100 per cent of the growers and the Independent Growers' Association has some following. However, there are some growers who would belong to the Growers' Stabilization Committee but will have nothing to do with the B.C.F.G.A. and yet both organizations are to be financed by a levy to be paid by the shippers and growers out of crop returns. An economic advantage is claimed for amalgamation. The Growers' Stabilization Committee may consider the merger at some future date.

The independent growers in general are opposed to a merger.

In the discussion yesterday many well known fruitgrowers voiced their opinions, including W. J. Coe of Winfield, Percy French, T. Cameron, Gordon Robinson, A. D. Heriot of Vernon, Major Rattray and Mr. Meek of Salmon Arm; A. W. Gray of Rutland; Capt. Jenkinson of Summerland; E. W. Ferguson and L. E. Marshall of Glenmore, and Mr. East of Keremeos.

Making his first appearance on a public platform in the Okanagan was Charles Hayden, the new editor of Country Life, the official organ of the B.C.F.G.A. In the course of his address on trade conditions he mentioned the fact that the Okanagan Valley was now doing more in the development of byproducts than any other part of the Dominion.

The convention was entertained at the Royal Ann Hotel by the Kelowna Board of Trade in the evening.

INDUSTRIES FAIR SOON IN BRITAIN

By T. T. Chamption, Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Jan. 18.—There will be thirty-two miles of exhibits at the British Industries Fair, which, for the twentieth year in succession, will be opened under the auspices of the Department of Overseas Trade, February 19. The fair is divided between Olympia and the White City in London, with a special exhibition hall for the heaviest industries in Birmingham.

For the first time cheap travel rates to trade buyers will be available in France, a valuable aid to the fair in view of the many continental buyers who have to reach London through that country. It was only in 1932 that such concessions were first made available, and then only by five nations.

So far the largest number of acceptances have come from buyers in Holland, the Irish Free State, Germany, Denmark and Belgium in that order.

CENTRAL HEATING FOR VANCOUVER

FOR VANCOUVER

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Jan. 18.—The Vancouver city council will seek a charter amendment at the next session of the British Columbia Legislature, empowering it to grant a central heating franchise covering downtown districts to H. A. Flood of Tacoma and Vancouver associates.

The council will ask the proposed amendment authorize issuance of a franchise without further reference to voters. This was decided at a meeting of the council yesterday.

When the central heating franchise by-law was submitted to the ratepayers December 13 for ratification it obtained a vote of 10,578 for and 8,978 against, but failed to receive the necessary 60 per cent of the votes cast. Downtown property owners have since pointed out the necessary vote percentage was obtained in the downtown wards and they urged a franchise covering that area.

DOG RETURNS HOME WITH BROKEN CHAIN

North Bay, Ont., Jan. 18.—When Alderman Thomas Hall's canine pet failed to return home, he inserted an advertisement in a local paper which read:

"My bob-tailed Highland sheep-dog disappeared yesterday. He will return home if he is. If he has come in contact with the city police, I am sorry for both."

The next day the bob-tailed dog returned home with a new collar and a tie chain snapped off in the middle.

C.C.F. EXPLAINED BY MR. CONNELL

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Jan. 18.—"The Co-operative Commonwealth Federation movement is neither anti-nationalistic nor anti-religious. Its only aim is to adjust, by education, the political economy of the country in order to maintain production according to the needs of the people and to ensure equitable distribution."

This was the statement made by Rev. Robert Connell, M.P.P.-elect, in an address here yesterday evening. Mr. Connell will be the leader of the C.C.F. opposition when the British Columbia Legislature opens next month.

"Production and distribution under present conditions are ethically wrong," Mr. Connell said.

"People still ask if the C.C.F. or socialism is contrary to religion. The answer is absolutely no," he continued. "In many respects the C.C.F. platform is the fulfillment of the finest ethics of the Christian church."

JAPAN FAVORS U.S. MONETARY PLANS

Tokyo, Jan. 18.—Japan probably will follow the monetary policies of the United States as laid down by President Roosevelt, said the Japanese minister Kurekiyo Takahashi indicated yesterday in an interview.

He asserted the government was intensively studying the problems of gold and devaluation with the intention of presenting legislation to the Japanese parliament asking powers similar to those of President Roosevelt.

Other financial authorities predicted Japan would begin systematic purchases of gold, to be financed partially by the government's anticipated profits from devaluation of the yen.

THE WHEAT PACT

In spite of the small wheat crop in 1933, international wheat prices have remained considerably below the average of sixty-three cents gold per bushel, fixed by the Wheat Pact as the minimum which must be attained before tariff reductions will be initiated. Yet wheat supplies are so insufficient, says the January summary of economic conditions by the Royal Bank of Canada, that some experts are beginning to anticipate world wheat shipments in excess of the basis used in fixing the quotas. A committee of the World Wheat Commission has worked out a fair scale of price differentials for various grades of wheat from various countries. This will be submitted to the wheat commission this month and the question of establishing minimum prices for each grade will then be taken under consideration.

We are told that during the present season world shipments of wheat have been small as a result of the large crops harvested in those European countries which ordinarily import large quantities of this cereal. The total international movement to December 25 last amounted to only 210 million bushels as compared with 235 million bushels during the corresponding period last season. With the reduction in European supplies during the winter, it is anticipated that larger quantities will be required from surplus-producing countries later in the crop year.

Despite excellent prospects early last season and the large acreage sown to wheat, the wheat crop in western Canada was severely injured by drought and the yield amounted to only 253 million bushels, according to recent official estimates. The total crop for the whole Dominion is placed at 271 million bushels. With a carryover from last year's crop amounting to 212 million bushels, the balance above domestic requirements amounts to 363 million bushels. Thus it follows, the Royal Bank's summary points out, that if the wheat exports come up to the full amount allowed under the quota, the carry-over at the end of next July would be reduced to approximately 163 million bushels.

Wheat areas in the United States suffered even more severely from drought than those in Canada. The 1933 winter crop was the smallest since 1904 and amounted to only 340 million bushels as compared with 462 million bushels in 1932 and a five-year average of nearly 600 million bushels. Spring wheat yielded only 174 million bushels against 265 million bushels in the previous year. The total crop harvested amounted to 515 million bushels, substantially less than the annual disappearance of wheat in the United States for domestic purposes. Stocks of old wheat were also heavy in the United States, but are being held against domestic requirements since this year's yield was so light.

The Pacific States alone produced a surplus and exports, mainly to the Orient, are being made from this area under government supervision. Shipments to date have amounted to approximately seven and a half million bushels, an exceedingly small total considering the position ordinarily occupied by the United States as a wheat exporter. It is not considered that exports from the United States will be an important factor during the present season in spite of the substantial quota allowed under the wheat agreement.

THESE LATTER-DAY SCOPTICS

There is altogether too much scepticism about these sea serpents. Things have reached such a state that when The Times of London recently printed a photograph of Scotland's phenomenon in Loch Ness, there were persons who actually arose and declared it merely looked like "a log with a large splash."

We had thought there had been more than enough to confound all such latter-day sceptics. After the evidence during recent months from a score or two of our own citizens regarding the activities of Cadborosaurus and his associates—or manifestations—we yesterday had the testimony from Captain Sorenson, a Boston trawler and a non-drinking man, whose crew actually caught one of these sea monsters in their net. Fifty feet long, six feet in diameter, "with a large flat head and two sets of teeth eight inches long," this denizen of the deep was so infuriated at being brought to close quarters that they had to cut their net and free him in order to save their vessel. That was the only reason why they did not bring him into port.

Also on the same day was the message from the citizens of Trinidad, who for upwards of a century have had a private sea serpent about which to the world they have never boasted. These good folk now feel somewhat slighted because just when sea serpents have taken to intriguing other parts, their own has failed them—in their hour of publicity need, as it were. But whatever has become of him, who could doubt his existence after the report of his last appearance at the time of the hurricane last June, when someone saw his "fifty-foot length thrashing through the huge waves and seeming to be in a hurry to get to the open sea?"

Then from Loch Ness we have incontrovertible evidence from the traditionally-venacious and hard-headed Scots. They have described their monster with definiteness enough to convince any sea serpent enthusiast. The facts about it have been assembled in this order: it is anywhere from thirty to ninety feet long, is either brown or gray, has a huge flat head or an abnormally small one, is smooth all over or has eight or nine bumps on its neck, has two or four fins and no feet, is capable of making footprints, has twice been seen running across motor highways and is believed to have devoured a goat and part of a Scottish poet last seen seated writing ballads on the banks of the Loch.

In view of all this, it is ungrateful of Roy Chapman Andrews to insinuate that sea serpents are only close relatives of pink elephants, recently popularized musically in a dance tune for their escapades on ceilings and floors. Bad as it was for Mr. Andrews, who is merely an explorer of the Gobi desert for rhyds of dinosaurs, to commit such a faux pas, how much worse is it for the great Sir Arthur Keith, the British anthropologist, and himself a Scotsman, to cast doubt! This noted authority has now expressed himself in these words that must pain the faithful: "I have come to the conclusion that the existence or non-existence of the monster is not a problem for zoologists, but for psychologists."

Imagine that!

SHOULD BE ABLE TO CARRY IT

It is fully expected that the national debt of the United States will amount approximately to $32,000,000,000 by next year, and there is considerable alarm in some quarters, but evidently not in the mind of President Roosevelt. Nor does there appear to be any particular reason why there should be. Staggering as the sum may be, it must be remembered that it is by no means unprecedented.

For example, the national debt of Great Britain at present stands at between $37,000,000,000 and $38,000,000,000, and the population of Great Britain is only about one-third that of the United States. The comparison can be regarded from another point of view.

Britain's debt works out, in round figures, to about $800 per capita. The debt of the United States, based on the assumption that it will reach $32,000,000,000, as suggested by Mr. Roosevelt, will amount to about $254 per capita. If this is considered with the fact that the national wealth of our neighbor was set at $247,000,000,000 in 1932, it will be seen that there ought not to be any very great difficulty in carrying the enlarged debt.

WOMEN ARE STILL WOMEN

An analysis of the contents of the five women's monthly magazines with the largest circulations on this continent has been completed. This has been done in an effort to answer the question of how far women's magazines go in enlightening their readers in regard to the modern world in which these readers are seeking to play an increasingly prominent part.

As for what the average woman actually reads, a study of what one of the magazines, one typical of the group and with a circulation of between one and two millions, published during the last six months is enlightening. Of its fifty-one special articles—eliminating all the fiction—thirteen were concerned with beauty, six with suggestions for better buying, six were heart-to-heart talks, four were about marriage and possible jobs for women, and three about movie stars; while for economics there were only two brief and light articles, only two dealing with the progress of art, and one short article on each of these subjects: architecture, music, peace and foreign affairs.

Altogether, for the whole year, the five magazines offered no articles on power control, immigration, farm problems, economic planning, child welfare, education, the labor movement, taxation, and other such vital social issues, although there was one article on peace and governmental economy.

It would be difficult to accept the implication in this that women have little or no interest in international affairs or in the grave problems created by the economic crisis. The suggestion that these great popular journals cater only to lazy-minded women is ruled out by the very fact of their comprehensive circulation. However, as millions of middle-class women with leisure to read these journals subscribe for them it is a fair deduction that they are not dissatisfied with the contents and that these contents represent at least some of the major interests of the sex.

This may be somewhat shattering to the hopes of those who looked to the "limitless vistas" to be opened by feminine emancipation; but in an age of talk about women asserting their rights, it is good to be reassured that while men may be ambitiously glimpsing the world and reaching for the stars, woman—ever the more practical and conservative—is still concentrating on what is closer to the heart, home and the kindred essentials of living.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

CANADIAN RUBBER
Canada Week by Week

The traveler in the remotest parts of the most remote countries of the world may find rubber products of one kind or another in use that were made in Canada.

A report just issued by the Canadian Government Bureau of Statistics states that the rubber industry of Canada, besides supplying the domestic market, contributes materially to the export trade of the Dominion. The products of this industry find their way to all parts of the world, Spain, Uruguay, Dutch East Indies, Portuguese Africa and China are but a few of the far-flung countries into which Canadian-made automobile tires and other articles of rubber find their way.

Canada is the seventh largest importer among the countries of the world of raw rubber, being exceeded by the United States, the British Isles, France, Germany, Japan and Russia.

ALIEN AGITATORS
The Timmins Advance

The Ottawa Journal is somewhat upset because the United Front organization in the Port Arthur district, and also at Rouyn, had the audacity to attempt to issue safe conduct passes to all travelers on roads to and from the bush. The Ottawa Journal thinks that for alien agitators to take upon themselves the control of the movements of British people in their own British country is a sample of internal affront that should not be tolerated for a moment. Possibly if The Ottawa Journal and some other newspapers had felt that way two or three years ago they would not have occasion to feel that way now.

These alien agitators, under whatever name they travel, have had for years the ambition to order British people around. That is why they remain in this country, apparently. It is evident that they hate the country and all its ways, but so long as they are tolerated they will be a nuisance and a menace.

Quebec province seems to understand the proper way to deal with these mischief-makers. Quebec also has the courage to enforce its opinions.

PRIVATE AFFAIR

AFTER I HAVE been so generous in discussing everybody else's affairs and the private business of the world in general, I feel confident, will excuse me if I devote it just this once to some private business which I really know something about. If you are not interested, which seems likely, you can turn over to the want ads now.

Well, then, a serious thing has happened out this way, a thing which looks suspiciously like a case of breach of promise, and with attendant publicity of a wide and disgusting nature. Yes, a distinguished journalist from Vancouver has been visiting next door, and he has gone home and written a whole column on the editorial page of The Vancouver Province entitled "Letter to Young Lady Concerning Marriage—Disclosing Confidential Offer made—Under Circumstances of Extreme Indelicacy—With Cautious Reflections Thereon—And Several References to Uncle Bill." Now this Young Lady, I need hardly say, is the little girl next door, who has just repudiated with dignity to the grave allegations contained therein.

SCANDALOUS LETTER

I HAVE NO SPACE to print this scandalous document from Vancouver in full, but in part it says:

"My Dear Young Lady—You are indeed very young, you know, and if you find it strange to be addressed as lady, Lord knows, considering your choice of parents, it is no wonder. But I have been thinking about your recent offer of marriage, and I think I ought to tell you why I am afraid it can never be."

"Although you cannot read yourself, your mother will read this to you, or at least—as is customary in your family—your mother will read it aloud in the presence of your father. And your father will then appropriate any of the choicer bits in it for the purposes of his own professional authorship (without the least acknowledgment, of course) and you will hear comment which, if it were not so usual in your hearing, I should describe as utterly unfit for your innocent ears."

"You said, as I remember, that you thought perhaps you might marry me. You said you were also considering Uncle Bill. You said you liked your Uncle Bill better because your Uncle Bill was fatter—which I am sure will greatly please your Uncle Bill when he comes to hear of it. If you were another young lady, I might hesitate to remind you, or even to recall to myself, the circumstances under which you made this highly provisional offer of marriage. If it were another young lady, I should regard those circumstances as indelicate in the extreme."

SHOCKING

YOU CAME into my room, you remember, very early in the morning, before I was up, bringing with you Elizabeth, the handsome doll with one of her arms cut off at the elbow by the new scissor, and you said you had come to jounce up and down on me because you always jounced up and down on your Uncle Bill. You jounced up and down on me, with circumstances of indecorum between a single gentleman of advancing years and a young lady, and you said that your Uncle Bill liked you to jounce up and down on his stummick nine million hundred times without stopping, a statement about which I made mental reservations which I am tolerably certain would have been accepted by your Uncle Bill.

"And I told you the story (incorrectly, you said) of the Three Bears, and you told me the story of the Five Little Pigs Who Went to Market, during which you explained with a great deal of unnecessary detail the methods adopted by your mother in the cutting of your toenails. Then we sang together the immortal lyric of the Three Blind Mice (which I first taught you when you were only two, when you were still younger and more of a lady, but not very much, because then you and not had so long an experience of the ways of your parents). And you said you thought you loved me almost as much as your Uncle Bill—except when he brought you chewing gum on Sundays—and that you would wait for me until you had two children, all marry me if you didn't marry your Uncle Bill or your Daddy.

JILTED

BUT, MY DEAR, I am afraid I must tell you, greatly moved as I have been by these evidences of your affection, and little likely as it is that any other lady will ever so much honor me even with such a contingent promise, I am afraid I must tell you that it can never be. Even if I could wait and remain faithful for another fifteen years, I should be afraid to marry into your family. I am reminded that your little brother habitually carries worms in his pockets. I am reminded of the fact—subsequently disclosed to me by your mother with a great pride—that you went to your mother, just before my last visit to your home and said: 'Why doesn't that damned old fool come over to see us again?'

"No, my dear, I think I shall continue to subscribe myself, ever unalterably yours, "P.C.R."

INDIGNANT REPLY

NATURALLY, SUCH an outrageous document could not go unanswered. And here is the answer:

"My Dear P.C.R.: "As I do not write in your language, I am asking the kind gentleman next door to indite this reply to your recent letter. For the evident sincerity of the praise contained therein I thank you more than for the extraordinary publicity which you have chosen to give it; since in those circles of society in which I am being brought (or dragged) up, it is not customary for single gentlemen, however ancient and disreputable, to recite in the public prints their affairs of the heart with respectable ladies, however young."

"Let me say at this outset that, while I might have been persuaded into such a seldom understood and disastrous venture if you had remained silent, now that you have published our love to the world, I can never marry you. No, not though you should reduce fifty pounds and stop smoking in bed, and drinking rum mixed with lemon juice and making—calling the kind gentleman next door to indite this reply to your recent letter. For the evident sincerity of the praise contained therein I thank you more than for the extraordinary publicity which you have chosen to give it; since in those circles of society in which I am being brought (or dragged) up, it is not customary for single gentlemen, however ancient and disreputable, to recite in the public prints their affairs of the heart with respectable ladies, however young."

"Some random remarks may have been made on the subject of marriage, some light and foolish periffage designed to make you feel at home here, but you flatter yourself when you construe this as a proposal. True it is that I came into your bed at 7 o'clock in the morning and enjoyed jumping up and down on your stomach (a most adequate stomach, I may add, for the purpose). True that you told me the story of the Three Bears (very inaccurately and with most imperfect growls). True that we sang the song of the Three Blind Mice together (neither of us having any idea of the tune). True that I pointed out to you the remarkable curve that you made in the springs and mattress under the bed. True that I carried to you the story of the Big Bad Wolf and also, as you so charmingly noted in the paper, the fact that I had referred to you in your absence as that 'damned old fool from Vancouver.' True that you managed to insinuate yourself, with liberal bribes of candy and many jumpings up and down on your most adequate stummick, into most of the secrets of this household and my own private love affairs. All true.

"But to construe this into a proposal of marriage is merely an act of self-deception and self-flattery. I fear you have reached that maudlin

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

ENCOUNTER

It happened, after many years, they met:
Upon both times' hands had worked
About here were shadows faintly set.
His smile, his grin, his smile was told and strange.

Above them towered the city street's high
A back-drop for the stage whereon they stood.
And all around rose shrill, ear-piercing calls,
Yet none more harsh than their rebellious mood.

An instant—thus two strangers stood and gazed,
Hand reaching hand, a thousand miles apart.
Then sudden fire within their spirits blazed,
And fused them once again, loved heart to heart!

So it will ever be between these two,
Though next they meet on spheres far
And new.

Duck hunting seems to have been better than usual on Saturday and Sunday, especially at Cowichan flats and Saanich. McQuade, Bernice Schwegler and R. Peden went out to Saanich and returned with twenty-two.

Victoria West Association football team played their last game for the season's series in the Victoria league Saturday, and although they did not win it was the Bays' last chance to get in the running, and they failed to do better than a draw.

The motor lifeboat which was wrecked on Robber Island, near Banfield, has been floated and taken to the lifeboat station awaiting the arrival of the steamer Leebro. She will be brought to this port.

John Cort will present Blithen Figman and Girard's comic opera, "The Alaskan" at the Victoria Theatre this evening.

The gathering of delegates to the Vancouver Island Development Conference on Friday next promises to be one of the most noteworthy events in the history of the island. Every section will be represented, and the result cannot fail to be the adoption of plans which will lead to the development of Vancouver Island with all its natural resources, inaccessible as some of those may be.

Native Sons of B.C. Apply to Marine Department For Lifesaving Devices

Proposals for the establishment of life-saving facilities along the treacherous stretch of the Dallas shoreline from Clover Point to Gonzales Point will be submitted to the Department of Marine and Fisheries at Ottawa by the Native Sons of British Columbia. It was announced by the chief factor, H. B. Serjison.

Attention will be drawn to the number of lives lost in marine tragedies there over a period of years, culminating in the two deaths on Monday at Foul Bay.

Among the suggestions made are that a telephone cable be laid from the shore to Trial Island lighthouse and that a life-saving boat with a strong engine be stationed there, that a similar boat, with skeleton crew be stationed at Clover Point, and that lifebuoys or cork jackets be made available at intervals along the coast line.

Any other ideas along the same line will be welcomed by the organization from the public. It was stated that the Native Sons will make an effort to secure the support of D. B. Plunkett, M.P., and C. H. Dickie, M.P., for the Nanaimo riding, which includes Oak Bay, in pressing their plea to Ottawa.

Review Favorable Year For Royal Bank of Canada

STRONG POSITION MAINTAINED

Sir Herbert Holt, President, Takes Strong View That Canada Is Now Definitely on the Upgrade.

Morris W. Wilson, Vice-President and General Manager, Reviews Strong Statement.

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Royal Bank of Canada, which marked the close of a most successful year.

Sir Herbert Holt, President, in his address struck an optimistic note when he stated that he considered that Canada was now definitely on the upgrade. Its progress, however, was being retarded by too heavy taxation and the cost of maintaining so many governments in the country was rapidly becoming unbearable.

Morris W. Wilson, Vice-President and General Manager, in his address reviewed the outstanding features of the strong statement of the Bank's loans, connection with the possible formation of a Central Bank, added Mr. Wilson, would be the quality of its management.

President's Address.

Sir Herbert S. Holt, President, in moving the adoption of the Directors' Report, said in part:

The 64th Annual Report and Balance Sheet submitted to you to-day disclose the strong position of the bank. While the Balance Sheet figures are somewhat smaller than those of a year ago, this reflects a falling off in international deposits and a corresponding contraction of the Canadian business. In fact, a notable feature is an increase in Canadian demand and savings deposits during the year. The liquid position is eminently satisfactory. As you would expect, the restricted demand for commercial loans, and the resultant increase in our holdings of Dominion and Provincial Government securities, has combined with other factors to reduce profits. In April last, the dividend was reduced from 10 per cent. to 8 per cent., and the last three quarterly dividends have been paid at that rate. The improvement which has taken place in business during the last six months, has already had a beneficial effect on earnings.

Referring to the situation in Canada, the President said: "I am glad to say that since we last met there has been a distinct improvement in Canadian business. I have had the opportunity of seeing this country recover from the depression on various occasions during the last fifty years and the present movement appears to be taking place along the accustomed lines. As soon as world trade commences to revive there is an improved demand for Canadian raw materials. Canadian exports increase substantially, surplus inventories disappear and greater activity in the principal exporting industries provides additional employment with a consequent improvement in the real question of domestic trade. This has been the sequence of events in Canada during the last six months."

The Railway Situation.

Dealing with the situation of the Government railways, Sir Herbert expressed the opinion that the time for half measures had passed and that bold and courageous action was required. He felt that the views expressed at the last Annual Meeting that enforced co-operation between the two railway systems would not be a satisfactory remedy had been confirmed by the experience of the past year and is still of the opinion that the maximum of economy can only be obtained by some form of administrative amalgamation.

The President made a strong demand for a reduction of Government debts and pointed out that the cost of maintaining too numerous governments, Federal, Provincial and Municipal, was becoming unbearable. He said: "Greater activity in business will reduce unemployment, produce increased revenues, and a reduction in disbursements for public relief. Advantage should be taken of these developments to reduce debts rather than increase expenditures."

Conditions in Other Countries.

In referring to conditions in other countries he expressed the view that the low point in the depression for most of the world was reached in the latter part of 1932, and since that time there has been a general increase in international trade. Reference to the United States was made as follows: "While business in the United States commenced to improve about the middle of 1932 it later suffered a relapse due to their banking difficulties and the hesitation and uncertainty which preceded a change of administration. Since last March quite material progress has been made. It is difficult to analyze the effects of their policies and impossible to prophesize the outcome. Their central idea that an increase in the price level must be obtained is sound common sense and is now quite generally accepted as such throughout the world. At our Annual Meetings of the last three years we have emphasized and re-emphasized the necessity for a higher price level. I see no reason why it cannot be achieved in due course."

In closing Sir Herbert Holt said: "At our last Annual Meeting I expressed the feeling that indications pointed to the initiation of a substantial recovery in 1933. That year it is desirable to go one step farther and to venture the opinion that we are now definitely on the upgrade. If we deal intelligently with the main problems that confront us we can expect within measurable time a return of general prosperity."

General Manager's Address.

Mr. M. W. Wilson, Vice-President and General Manager, in referring to the position of the bank pointed out that liquid assets totalled $322,471,000, and were equal to 55.76 per cent. of public liabilities, compared with 52.86 per cent. of the previous year. A notable feature is that 24.26 per cent. of such liabilities is represented by cash and cash balances aggregating $157,699,000. He mentioned the further interesting fact that in Canada current deposits increased about $17,000,000 during the year and savings deposits were higher by $2,000,000.

In discussing the proposed central bank he recalled the hope which he expressed at the last Annual Meeting that the Government would see fit to have the project examined by a body of experts and said: "The Royal Commission on Banking and Currency which has been constituted last summer could not have been better chosen. Under the Chairmanship of Lord Macmillan their sittings in all parts of the country were notable for the freedom with which possible evidence was received and for the patience and tact displayed in dealing with the material submitted. While I do not agree with the Report in its entirety I believe that a properly constituted Central Bank can be developed as a useful adjunct to our banking system."

Note Issue.

Mr. Wilson expressed the strong opinion that the recommendations in the Report with respect to the gradual withdrawal of the note-issuing privileges of the Chartered Banks did not appear to be in the public interest. Retention of these privileges would not hamper the Central Bank in its efforts to control credit. In this connection he quoted an editorial which appeared in The London Economist to the effect that the Central Bank would not be in the least weakened by allowing the Chartered Banks to retain their present issues under the present restrictions.

Mr. Wilson went on to say: "I think, therefore, that we should view the elimination of bank note issues not as a step which must inevitably accompany the creation of a central bank but as a separate matter entirely. The real question is whether the Government desire to have banking service maintained at many small points throughout the country or to appropriate the revenue of note issues for themselves. I believe that the gain to the Government would not offset the loss to the public through the operation of banking facilities. Unquestionably there are many places which could no longer support a branch bank if note issuing privileges were to be withdrawn. The operation of a number of small branches at a bare margin of profit is characteristic of banking in this country. We have a system which in many of its aspects is native to the Dominion and prudence should prompt us to be very cautious in advocating fundamental changes."

In conclusion Mr. Wilson said: "At our last Annual Meeting I ventured to suggest that the prospect of further improvement in the coming year was very much more hopeful than it was the previous year. That prediction has been borne out by subsequent developments. For the first time in years an attitude of quiet but confident optimism is in evidence almost everywhere. Many problems still have to be solved but I have full confidence in the ability of Canada to share in the continued improvement in economic conditions which I believe lies ahead of us."

Burns' Work Extolled To Musical Art Society

Ira Dilworth Pays Tribute to Bard's Supreme Lyric Quality

Ethel Bassin Guest Artist on Delightful Scottish Programme

The lustre of Robert Burns' work is undimmed and the magnificence of his contribution to literature has lost none of its glamour in the passing years because he had the true poetic gift, lived truly up to the lyric quality, and had the indispensable gift of sincerity.

This tribute to the Scottish bard was paid by Ira Dilworth in the thoughtful address on "The Poetry of Burns," which was one of the interesting features of the recital of Scottish music, given at the Shrine Hall yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the Victoria Musical Club. Appropriately arranged in commemoration of the approaching birthday of Burns, the concert attracted one of the largest audiences of the season. Mrs. W. A. Jameson, the president, tendering them a warm welcome.

RICH IN SPIRIT
Describing the poet's early life of poverty, Mr. Dilworth noted that although he was born to peasant life, he lived life to the fullest, enjoying the greater riches of mind and spirit. His own tragic life imbued him with an intense sympathy with the everyday man's joys and sorrows, and his humanitarianism is reflected in his poems—hence their undying appeal.

His work inspired a great reverence and pity for the man, but while admitting that there had grown up a sense of exaggeration for Burns, Mr. Dilworth acclaimed him as the supreme lyrical poet.

His work had endured for three reasons: First, because he had the true poetic gift which comes from Heaven, being endowed with a lively sensibility and a great knowledge of human nature. Second, because he poured out his whole tragic bitter personal experience in his poems, and truly lived up to the lyric quality.

HAD GIFT OF SINCERITY

The third reason for his greatness was that his work possessed the indispensable gift of all art that it is to live—sincerity. When Burns uttered his theory of the brotherhood of man, he spoke out of the deepest convictions of his heart and so carried conviction. Mr. Dilworth contrasted the sincerity of Burns with the insincerity of Walt Whitman, who was a poseur and who, the vaunted mouthpiece of democracy, did far less for the humble man than did Burns, who was loved and revered by the lowly folk of his native heath.

ETHEL BASSIN

The guest artist was Miss Ethel Bassin of Vancouver, a pupil of the late Marjorie Kennedy Fraser, who contributed two groups of Scottish folk songs with much artistry. The first, a group of Lowland Scots songs, included her own arrangement of "Can Ye Sew Cushions?" "There's Nae Luck About The House," and "My Father Has Forged Gude Shillins." and "Last May a Black" arranged by T. M. Mudge.

HEBRIDEAN AIRS

In her second group of Hebridean songs, she had three Kennedy Fraser arrangements. "Gur Mills Moring,"

DAUGHTER OF LATE CHAUNCEY OLCOTT

A fine close-up of the talented Jane Olcott, seventeen-year-old daughter of the late Chauncey Olcott, one of the stage's most beloved characters. Miss Olcott, who arrived in New York recently from Great Britain is an accomplished pianist and will shortly make her concert debut on this continent.

"Churning Lilt" and "Barra Lovell," and two of her own, "Pal al al O" and "Mouth Music," followed by another "work song," "On the Soles of Your Little Feet."

A long sojourn in the Hebrides furnished the authoritative background with which Miss Bassin imbues her sympathetic interpretation of these lilting old melodies, many of which were sung in the Gaelic tongue, and her introductory translation and description materially enhanced the interest of the two groups, which were enthusiastically received by the audience. Mr. Dilworth gave adequate support at the piano.

Mrs. J. P. Jaffray, pianist, made instant appeal with her delightful melody of Scottish airs, played with musician's understanding. Piper Donald Cameron's stirring playing on the pipes of "The Seventy-fourth's Farewell," and the spirited dancing of Maryann Peterson, a sword dance, and the Misses Peterson, Adele Murdoch, Gwen Dewar and Anna Peden, in a reel, rounded out a programme of timely interest.

FORMER WOMAN M.P. IN STATES

New York, Jan. 18 (Associated Press).—Mrs. Corbett Ashby, leading British pacifist, and her country's only woman delegate to the Disarmament Conference, and former M.P., said today that Europe is hoping the United States can recover prosperity without losing "the machinery of free government."

She arrived on the Olympic to attend the Washington conference called by the National Committee on Cause and Cure of War.

BANK MUST BE PEOPLE'S OWN

Hon. Ian Mackenzie Discusses Central Bank Plan Before Liberal Women

Calgary, Jan. 18.—The sort of central bank which will be advocated by the Conservative Government in this session following the report of its commission, in which orthodox banking practice held the dominant position, will not be worth one iota to the people of Canada and most certainly will not satisfy me," Hon. Ian Mackenzie, member of the House of Commons for Vancouver Centre, told the Twentieth Century Liberal Women's Club here yesterday evening.

The speaker said the central bank, to be of any use in the present situation, must be owned by the people and not by private individuals or institutions. Congratulating local Liberals on their success in the recent by-election, in which Harry Ross, Liberal, was elected to a Calgary seat in the Alberta Legislature, Mr. Mackenzie said he hoped the victory would be repeated until "the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation government in Alberta is turned out in the same manner as we in British Columbia turned out the decadent Tolmie government."

He added C.C.F. leaders in that election had openly denied God and urged Communist doctrines. Referring to the forthcoming session of the Dominion House, Mr. Mackenzie said: "With all due respect to our Prime Minister, he left Vancouver recently with fewer friends than when he went there, if that were possible."

The speaker declared interest charges in Canada must be revamped. "In the Dominion House, the government will offer its creditors a reasonable rate of interest, and the creditors will be told they can take their money elsewhere if they are not prepared to accept that rate," Mr. Mackenzie said.

The reports of the last year's work were presented and revealed the excellent effort made by this group of young enthusiasts to further the work of the V.O.N., particularly among the children.

Members were reminded that, in future, the juniors will hold their meetings on the third Tuesday in every month, at the homes of the respective members. The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, February 20, at 2.30 at the home of Miss Betty Bechtel.

YOUR CHILDREN

PIT ASIDE FEAR OF LOSING CHILD'S AFFECTION IN DISCIPLINING HIM
Nature arranges many things, and among them probably is that very thing shouted down so often by child experts—the desire of a mother to hold her child's love by humoring him. Somehow or other I believe it must be meant for a good purpose or it would not be there.

At the same time there is something else to be considered. Civilization does something to us. The higher we go in intelligence and education the more sensitive becomes the nervous make-up, and normal emotion is exaggerated.

WHAT CULTURE BRINGS

Compare the average high-strung woman of any cultured nation with her savage sister. One a sensitive violin capable of a million tunes, the other a primitive instrument limited to a few.

Thus constructed, our civilized mother is vulnerable to hurt much too easily. She fears too quickly and goes to great extremes to preserve what she holds dear. The dearest thing to her is the love of her child for her. She puts it even above her love for him.

I do not think that children love their mothers altogether, as we are so often told, because they are selfish and their mothers mean merely convenience and comfort. This does enter into it, of course, but I give all children credit for a higher emotion than that. They love their mothers because they love them, that's all.

MOTHER'S ATTITUDE

Therefore, I think there is less danger of a mother doing a little disciplining than she may think. She must put aside this exaggerated fear of losing her boy's or girl's affection, become a little impersonal at times and take the law into her hands. She will have herself to fight, of course, but if she stops and reasons thus she will see there is small risk. "I cannot go on letting Junior have his own way. As he grows older he will respect me more because he respects himself more. At any rate it is better to sacrifice a little of his devotion to me now if it means that he will be a better man. Anyway there isn't a chance in a thousand that it will make any difference in his real love at all."

DANCE AT FOUL BAY CANCELLED

Out of respect for the late Dr. Frederick Hartling, who lost his life Monday afternoon, a dance planned by the Foul Bay Junior Community Association for Friday night has been cancelled. It was announced by the secretary, The funeral of Dr. Hartling will take place Friday.

JUNIOR V.O.N. REVIEWS YEAR

Miss Kathleen Wilson Re-elected President at Annual Meeting

Miss Kathleen Wilson was unanimously re-elected president of the Junior branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses at the annual meeting held on Tuesday evening at her home, St. Charles Street. Miss Marianne Fraser was elected treasurer and Miss Alison Mitchell secretary.

Acting on the suggestion of the senior members of the board, the juniors will take over the baby clinic entirely, a matter from the juniors going each Wednesday to the clinic. Heretofore a member from the board has gone also, but it was decided that the juniors could manage this branch of the work alone.

MISS KATHLEEN WILSON

To raise funds for its work, the Junior V.O.N. made preliminary plans for a dance to be held at the Empress Hotel after Easter. To make the necessary arrangements a committee was appointed, consisting of Miss Jean Lennox (convenor), Miss Viva Brown and Miss Marjorie Merrick.

The reports of the last year's work were presented and revealed the excellent effort made by this group of young enthusiasts to further the work of the V.O.N., particularly among the children.

Members were reminded that, in future, the juniors will hold their meetings on the third Tuesday in every month, at the homes of the respective members. The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, February 20, at 2.30 at the home of Miss Betty Bechtel.

ECONOMICAL LAMB DISHES FOR YOUR MENU

By SISTER MARY

Careful economies often make it possible to live well on a comparatively small outlay of money. We may prefer lamb chops, but they cost much more than the same amount of meat taken from the breast or shoulder.

Leg of lamb also is a delicious and popular cut, but a small family may find difficulty in disposing of it without growing tired of it. Moreover, for every leg of lamb someone must purchase and use the forequarters, which consist of the front legs and shoulders. Each quarter usually weighs from six to nine pounds, but the butcher will be glad to cut it in such sized portions as suits customers' wants. There is little difference of bone and waste in the forequarter and in the chops, and the price usually is considerably less in the forequarter.

FOREQUARTER TOUGHER

The forequarter meat is naturally tougher than that of the hindquarter and in tough meats the connective tissue is the part that must receive special attention.

By separating the meat, bone and fat, each one can be used to advantage. The meat can be put through the food chopper ready for attractive chopped "steaks." The bone may be used for broth, and the fat can be chopped and easily tried out to be used for pan-frying.

Variety in dishes made with the forequarter of lamb often may be accomplished by using suitable sauces and other accompaniments such as rice and spaghetti.

The small family will find two pounds of lamb from the forequarter sufficient for its needs. The larger family, of course, will need more in proportion to its size.

WAYS TO PREPARE

When the meat is left in one piece it can be boiled, roasted, braised with vegetables or cooked and pressed and served cold.

Cut in pieces, Irish stew, fricassee of lamb, casserole of lamb and lamb curry are sure to please.

When the meat and bone are separated before cooking, several pleasing dishes may be concocted. The pieces of clear meat can be pounded thin—"Frenched." These are broiled and served with minted currant jelly. Or, instead of flattening the filets, each one can be wrapped with a strip of breakfast bacon, held with a toothpick and broiled or baked in a hot oven.

If the meat is chopped, it can be made into cakes like Hamburg steaks and broiled or fried.

The bone can be boiled to make broth or stock. If the meat with vegetables and rice, is added to this broth, a nourishing dish known as Scotch broth is made.

Chopped lamb combined with cracker crumbs and eggs makes a delectable meat loaf. Served with creamed peas, it vies with lamb chops for popularity.

The nutritive value of this inexpensive meat is quite as great as that of the choicer, more costly cuts. The flavor is just as delicious in the shoulder as in the leg.

To You...Champion Toronto Cake Makers...Congratulations!

EVEN in a one-egg cake Swans Down gives results you cannot get with ordinary flour," says MRS. BERT ASHWELL, Grand Prize winner.

"It's hard to make anything but a first-class cake with Swans Down Cake Flour," says MRS. HODGINS, 2nd Prize winner.

"I simply followed directions, Swans Down Cake Flour did the rest," says MRS. GREEN, 3rd Prize winner.

Think of it...452 cakes were entered in the mammoth Swans Down Cake Baking Contest held at "Housekeeping Centre" in the T. Eaton store, Toronto. And did these housekeepers bake good cakes! Absolutely yes, say the judges who were—The "Homemaker" of the Toronto Globe, Eaton's "Household Adviser," Swans Down Cake Flour Experts, and a representative of the "Chateleine Institute."

And what a difficult time the experts on cake making had to award the prizes. Every point had to be considered—lightness, texture, exact timing of the baking to get the required colour...and all the other things authorities demand in perfect cakes. Congratulations to the 41 prize winners and to all contestants for the high standard of quality achieved!

"Become a Champion Cake Maker

... But Not with Ordinary Flour"

"When I was asked to designate a recipe for this Swans Down Cake Baking Contest it was a pleasure to choose one of my favourites—Swans Down One-Egg Cake. For especially in a one-egg cake you can prove to yourself why Swans Down gives that delicate lightness you simply can't get with ordinary flour. The reason is this. Swans Down is milled from a special wheat. Wheat with a tender, pliable gluten—quick to respond to the light leavens of your cake mixture. Very different from the tough glutens of wheat from which ordinary flour is milled. What's more, Swans Down is milled 27 times as fine as ordinary flour. That's why champions use Swans Down—the first and still the finest cake flour!"

CALL OF THE WEST

CHAPTER XXXII

Dona rode down the trail slowly. Stan Ball's black mare did not want to go. The horse kept turning her head and edging off the trail. But she remembered that her master had given her orders to obey the slender girl so she made a half-hearted attempt to step along.

The lumberjack who was acting as Dona's escort did not seem to mind riding slowly. He was out of place in the saddle and his big, raw-boned frame jolted up and down when his horse trotted.

Torn between a wild eagerness to be back with her father and fear that all was not well on the back trail, Dona rode along. Dudley scarcely entered her thoughts. So many strange things had happened in the past week, so many amazing twists of fate, that life had begun to seem unreal. Always a girl who made decisions rapidly and drove straight to a finish, she was surprised at her present state of uncertainty.

She could not understand Stanley Ball with his clear grey eyes, his chivalry toward her and his fearlessness in the face of death itself. How could a man like that be an outlaw and killer? The question kept pounding in her brain as she rode.

The black mare's hoofs clicked on the trail with an even rhythm and soon Dona's thoughts were beating to the same measure. Ball had admitted that he was guilty of all the charges against him. That means he had shot her father, killed a ranger and wounded several men. Dona was back exactly where she had started. But a man who had committed such crimes would never have treated her with the respect and dignity that Ball had shown each time they had met.

The escort was riding ahead now. He had eased himself in the saddle by throwing one leg around the horse and his body jolted grotesquely as his horse plodded along. Dona watched him narrowly.

She slowed her horse a little to see if he was watching her out of the tail of his eye. The man slowed, too, and she knew that he was keeping a close check on her movements. Suddenly Dona pushed the mare ahead and rode abreast of him.

"Do you suppose they have the job done yet?" She motioned with her hand in the direction from which they had come.

The man looked at her, then grinned. "They'll bring him down the trail a ways, then—" He jerked upward with one thumb and his grin widened.

Dona's lips went white. "I'm going back to put a stop to it!" she cried.

The black mare had halted. The man pulled his horse to a stop. "No use to butt in," he growled.

"I'm going back!" It will be plain murder!" The girl's eyes were ablaze and her lips trembling.

The dull fellow beside her drew a deep breath of admiration at Dona's striking beauty, but he shook his head. "All over by now," he grunted.

Dona took in the situation at a glance. Her companion was unbalanced in his saddle. One leg was cast over the horn. His horse hung from his hip on her side while his big hands rested on the saddle horn. He was drinking in the picture she made. With a lightning movement Dona lashed out with her quirt, at the same time swinging the black mare up against the other horse. The lashing leather strips cut across the fellow's eyes and cheeks, blinding him. Dona reached over and jerked his gun loose, then cut his horse cruelly across its flanks. The animal snorted and leaped into the air. Like a big sack of meal, the man sailed into the air and landed in a heap on the ground.

Dona did not wait to see if her victim arose. She swung the black mare back to the trail. Would she be in time? The question pounded in her brain to the beat of the black mare's hoofs.

Stan's horse fairly flew up the rough path, darting around trees and curves with a swift grace. Dona leaned forward eagerly and let the mare set her pace. Through the cut timber they raced and on into the growth that had not been desolated by the axe.

Out on the Pass Creek trail the black streaked. She knew where she was headed and her nostrils flared as she strained at her loose bit. Dona felt a rush of exhilaration as she watched the mare's powerful muscles lift and fall. She was riding a great horse.

In a flurry of dust and loose stones Dona burst from the trail and shot toward a clump of aspens. She had seen a group of men ahead and knew what to expect. She could make out the tree under which Ball was standing and the rope over the limb.

Swergin saw her coming and rode out to meet her. He waved to the men to loosen up on the rope.

Dona alighted to a halt before him. She was close to the men and could see Ball standing straight and calm with the rope around his neck.

"What is the meaning of this?" she snapped.

"I'm having a hard time with these fellows," Swergin rumbled.

Dona slid from her horse and pushed toward Stan. Swergin followed her. He winked at the men and they stood back. Placing herself beside Stan, the girl faced the mob.

"You are going to turn this man loose," she announced evenly. "It's better to let him escape than to murder him!"

"You see, boys!" Swergin spoke to the men. "You fellows will have to live up this wild idea and do as the lady says."

The men nodded and backed away a little more. The black mare had shouldered in and was nuzzling Stan's arm. With a sudden movement, Swergin leaped toward Dona. She whirled and her gun came up with a snap. The big timber boss slid to a halt and his face went white.

"Put up that gun!" he gritted. "You'll shoot somebody."

"I certainly will," Dona's voice was heard. Slowly she backed around behind Stan, her gun wavering over the men. She reached into her jacket pocket and pulled out a pocket knife.

Opening it deftly with one hand, she slashed his hands, strand by strand. The men stood rooted to the spot, too astonished to move. Swergin was swearing under his breath but he dared not move as the black muzzle of her gun waved over him more than any of the others.

Her eyes flickered open and she sat up. Stan smiled as the girl stared at him with a foolish look on her face. "Thank you," he said simply.

Dona mopped the water from her face. It was a face that mirrored mingled emotions.

"It seem to be a prisoner again," she said and a little smile puckered her full lips.

"Not for longer than you wish," he replied.

"Then I must get home at once," the girl said and stood up shakily.

THE ARGUMENT ABOUT HEREDITY AND ENVIRONMENT

It is a delightful and provocative intellectual game to try to determine the relative influence of heredity and environment, or in other terms, nature and nurture. It is so easy to find examples for either side of the argument, leaving one pretty much where he started and hugging his own conclusions firmly.

THE OLY WAY

When we find the ultimate answer, it will no doubt be the result of long and unbiased research. The scientific procedure would consist of the study of identical twins reared in entirely different environments. This is the only way in which we could decide whether heredity, which would be the same with both twins, would result in a different environment in developing radically different individuals.

In studying the effect of the same environment on children with differing heredities, we have only to go into any orphan asylum. Here we are sure to find all kinds of children being reared under the same environmental influences and turning superficially into the same kind of individuals. This environment leaves its mark on children. It stifles initiative, as a rule, because no institution could be run without a rigid programme of conformity. But, in spite of this, children in such institutions are different, and the difference is a matter of heredity and obviously not of environment.

ONE THEORY

Under the influence of the behaviorists we began to believe that heredity had no influence at all. Give any set of parents any given child, they asserted, and they could make a worthy child of him. This is true only within limits. It does not account for the appearance of geniuses in art, literature and music in families to which such capacities are foreign. It does not account for the fact that conscientious study of art and music and literature cannot make geniuses, though it may make workmanlike artisans of children whose hereditary equipment does not bequeath them such capacities.

We can take advantage of educational facilities to bring out the best there is in any child. But we cannot put into a child by the most able education anything which is not there. We cannot make intellectual giants of mental dwarfs. Our looks, our intelligence, our aptitudes, are bequeathed to us at birth. All any of us can do is to make the most of them.

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Down, down, down through the deep snow fell Uncle Wiggily with the pieces of the wooden barrel strapped to his paws. Down, down, down he tumbled through a big drift until he began to think he might be going all the way to China.

"And perhaps it may not be snowing in China," thought the rabbit gentleman to himself, as he put one paw on his pink nose so the white wouldn't bounce off. "I have read there are many wonderful things in China. I should like to see that land. My, what a long fall I am having through the snow!"

But even the longest fall must have an end and Uncle Wiggily wasn't so long as he thought. It seemed to the rabbit gentleman that he had tumbled a long distance through the snow but, really, it was not very far.

All of a sudden he came to a stop with a bump and he sat up and looked around him. All he saw was a glaring whiteness—the whiteness of snow on his pink nose so the white wouldn't bounce off. "I have read there are many wonderful things in China. I should like to see that land. My, what a long fall I am having through the snow!"

Welcome to my cave.

"I must have fallen into a snow cave!" said the rabbit gentleman.

And that's just what he had done. As you remember, from having heard the story last night, Mr. Longears started out from the home of Mr. Twistytail, the fat pig, to walk to his own bungalow so his wife wouldn't worry about his being out in the snowstorm. To keep from sinking into the deep snowdrifts, Mr. Longears wore barrel stave shoes, like skis. But even with these on, when he was half way home, he tumbled through a drift into the snow cave.

"Well, now that I am here, I wonder what is going to happen next," said Mr. Longears. "Something ought to happen in a snow cave. I ought to have an adventure!"

"Have an adventure!" a voice shouted back at him.

"I beg your pardon, who are you?" asked the rabbit. "I didn't know I had company here. Who are you?"

"Who are you?" asked a voice. "I am Uncle Wiggily," politely answered Mr. Longears.

"I am Uncle Wiggily!" said the voice.

"Dear me, there can't be two Uncle Wiggilies!" said Mr. Longears.

"Two Uncle Wiggilies?" was shouted back at him, and then the rabbit gentleman understood.

"It's an echo!" he chuckled.

"An echo," said the other voice, and then Mr. Longears knew it was his own voice bouncing back at him like a rubber ball thrown against a wall, that he had heard.

"I won't pay any more attention to it," he said in such a low voice that the echo didn't hear and so didn't answer. "But I wonder how I am to get out of this snow cave," thought the bunny gentleman. "I am almost like Mr. Twistytail, the fat pig. I am a gentleman in his cave of ice. How can I get out?"

As the bottom of the cave was made of hard snow into which he could not sink to his ears, as might have happened if he had been on top of a drift outside, Uncle Wiggily took off the barrel stave shoes.

He could walk more easily without them, but he decided to keep them with him, for he could not tell when he would get out of the cave.

"And then I may need the barrel staves again to keep me from sinking into the deep snow," thought the rabbit. "This is a large cave."

Indeed, it was. Uncle Wiggily never knew that there was such a large snow cave so near his own Hollow Stump Bungalow. And the cave, he was sure, must be near his bungalow for, only a little while before, he had left the Twistytail pig house, which was just over the hill from his own.

All of a sudden, as Uncle Wiggily was walking in the snow cave, which was almost as light as day, he heard a voice singing. This time it wasn't the echo. The bunny stood still and listened. The voice sang:

"The winter is a jolly time. It brings the snow and ice. Now soon I'll have some company and I will treat them nice."

"My! Some one must live in this snow cave and whoever it is must be expecting company," whispered Mr. Longears. "I hope I am the company and I hope I'll be treated nice." He hopped on a little farther and, all of a sudden, around the corner of a big snowball came jumping a cute little Elf dressed in a red suit.

"Hello!" called the little Elf. "Welcome to my snow cave!"

Mr. Longears was much surprised and he told the story of the snow cave, which will be about Uncle Wiggily and the company. But please don't let the tea kettle sing the coffee pot to sleep before breakfast.

Mrs. Wynn Johnson Dies in Cariboo

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Jan. 18.—A well-known figure in Vancouver social circles and a pioneer resident of this city, Mrs. Mary Mabel Johnson, aged sixty-two, wife of C. E. Wynn Johnson, died Tuesday evening at her home at Alkali Lake, Cariboo. Death followed an illness of two weeks. The funeral will be held at Alkali Lake at a date to be announced later.

Daughter of S. K. Twigg, the deceased was born in Dublin, and came to Vancouver forty-one years ago.

When the mining boom occurred in Roseland in the middle 90's, the deceased and her husband moved to that city, where they resided for some years.

In 1900 they moved to Skagway, where Mr. Johnson established a wharf and storage plant. During their ten years in the north, Mrs. Johnson paid frequent visits to Vancouver and kept alive her many connections here.

In 1910 Mr. Johnson bought out the old Buey ranch at Alkali Lake, one of the first establishments of its kind in the Cariboo. She is survived, besides her husband, by three daughters, Mrs. W. C. Woodward, Vancouver; Mrs. A. L. Wilson of Toronto, and Mrs. P. B. Harris of Rice Lake. Seven grandchildren also survive.

Bonnet Among Spring Styles

Mme. Bovary Influence Dominant in New Millinery

Associated Press

New York, Jan. 18.—Away off the face are the new spring hats—sometimes as far back as two inches from the hairline.

And in styles they are as refreshing as the first glimpse of green in Central Park. In one collection here about five main types were seen today—all lively and different.

The bonnet is important this spring for the first time since pre-war days. Katharine Hepburn aided in bringing it back. But as this designer creates it, it is an 1840 bonnet, like Madame Bovary's. Madame Bovary is almost the greatest single millinery influence right now.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

FRIDAY, JANUARY 19, 1934

Kindly stars rule mildly to-day, according to astrology. The planetary government encourages play as well as work.

In the morning industry in many lines should benefit. Workers are subject to same and wise influences of the stars.

Constructive projects now should be so well under way that they will prove their extraordinary worth in restoring public confidence, astrologers forecast.

This should be a profitable day for shopping, especially for the buying of household articles. Merchants should profit.

Informal entertainments are directed by the stars. This is an auspicious day for paying social debts contracted in the holiday.

There is a sign stimulating and at the same time soothing to the public mind. Political plans should meet with more approval than has been recently offered.

The planetary government should be helpful to lawmakers of every rank, since it is supposed to impart the knowledge that public office is not merely a private benefit.

Pisto is in a place of sinister omen, the seers announce. Disasters in many places are foreshadowed. Miners are especially menaced.

Again a development of the etheric forces by scientists is promulgated and the new discoveries will make future wars—worse than has been foretold; in fact, they should be out of the question.

New efforts to assure world peace are promised, and these will result in powerful organization not hitherto attained, astrologers predict.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of good fortune. Many small profits are indicated.

Children born on this day probably will be extremely original in their talents and unusually gifted. Subjects of this sign may be interested in varied activities.

William Wallace Duncan yesterday evening was elected chairman of the Saanich School Board to succeed Frank V. Hobbs, after serving a single year as a school trustee of the municipality.

The election was opposed by Trustee Albert E. Hull, who proposed Trustee William Tomes, on the grounds that the chairmanship should go to the senior member of the board.

Trustee Duncan expressed his thanks to the board for the honor accorded him and stated he would do his utmost for the benefit of the municipality in administering the board's business.

The oath of office was administered by Robert Brydon, J.P., to the recently elected members of the board, Trustees Walter P. Jeune, Albert E. Hull and F. G. Aldous.

The former two were congratulated by Mr. Brydon on their re-election and Mr. Aldous was welcomed as the new member.

It was decided to hold a special meeting of the board next Wednesday, when regular business will be discussed and the board will set meeting dates for the year.

The following committees of the board were named: Finance—Trustee W. P. Jeune, chairman, with all members of board; grounds, Trustee A. E. Hull, chairman, with Trustees W. Tomes and F. G. This action follows along the line of the plan advocated by Trustee W. P. Jeune during the election campaign during which he stated he favored

JANUARY is a Month of Bargains

THE MAN (or perhaps it was a woman!) who invented the towel had a great idea! And an equally great benefactor was the man (or more likely a woman) who conceived the scheme of making towels as colorfully attractive as they are bathingly serviceable.

Along about this time of the year, towels also have their plan of moving from bargain counters to thrifty closets. Linens, handkerchiefs and blankets also beckon the eye and prices soothe the pocketbook. January is a glorious month for bargains!

The advertisements in your newspaper are important news of the shopping world and they tell an interesting story of quality and price—of things that are new.

Did you ever pause to consider how much time and expense these advertisements save you? You make your own decisions in your own home. You figure the cost to a penny. Then, with the help of these daily messages of economy in your newspaper, you go forth on an adventure of buying and return with exactly what you intended to get.

WATER SCHEME IS APPROVED

Improvements to System to Be Carried Out at Courtenay

Courtenay, Jan. 18.—The council at its meeting Monday finally passed by-law No. 264, authorizing improvements to the waterworks system.

During the discussion on unemployment, Mayor Simms expressed the view that firm steps should be taken in dealing with relief demands. Alderman Searle was adverse to giving unemployment relief, but thought work would be available on the waterworks improvements.

The suggestion was made that the council resolve not to start relief until work on the reservoir starts. Alderman Brown did not think the reservoir should be built with relief work.

The discussion finally left the mayor to carry on in the way in which he had been doing, which the council considered satisfactory. Mayor Simms thought unemployment was less acute than the department with instructions to submit the names of three candidates.

The Union of British Columbia Municipalities wrote urging that the city be represented at the annual convention to be held at Victoria January 23 to 31. Mayor Simms was appointed as the city's representative, and other members of the council may also attend.

Reports for the year were very satisfactory, a sum of $657 having been raised. Officers elected were: Mrs. G. K. MacNaughton, president; Mrs. R. Strachan, vice-president; Mrs. E. R. Hicks, treasurer, and Mrs. Grace Conrod, secretary.

On Wednesday evening also a meeting of the men's committee was held at the home of H. Strachan, to discuss the Burns supper. The speakers for this year will in all probability be Inspector Sullivan and John Kyle, of Victoria.

CULT OF ROSY CROSS MAKING CONVERTS

Rosicrucianism and Alchemists Creed, Born in Middle Ages, Continues to Gain as Potent Force in Guiding Human Activities

ST. NO. 3 GOL. 3" caused the political run-up in the great open spaces of the world.

The red cross of Rosicrucianism supplanted as a political issue the fiery cross which the kluvers once burned on every knoll of the state.

For, among many other charges which the enemies of former Governor Henry S. Johnson of Oklahoma buried in his teeth as just and true cause why he should be ousted was the charge that he was a Rosicrucianist, a follower of the rosy cross which had its disciples, Pagan and Christian, over all the world long years ago, the cross which has witchcraft, alchemy and sorcery as its creed.

Governor Johnson denied that he was a real Rosicrucianist in the sense that he paid dues to The Rosicrucian Fellowship with headquarters at Ocean-side, Calif., the American centre of the cult, and no record of his membership is found in the Ocean-side roster.

But he added that he "believes the Rosicrucianism Fellowship to be a powerful and persuasive presentation."

In proof thereof, he has been a complete vegetarian, which is one of the instances of the modern Rosicrucian creed.

Its of apples, citrus, grapes or melons is constantly upon his desk. In fact, the first suspicion of his Rosicrucian tendencies came from the presents of onions and apples which he was constantly showering upon reporters, urging them to "eat foods of health."

In addition, he proved himself a believer in the power of the stars on a certain day when he refused to sign a bill until between 11.26 and 12.30 p.m. of the next Thursday, "because," he explained, "all the signs of the zodiac will be favorable then."

The cross was clinched when the governor admitted that he had a great interest in the occult, which he expounded the science of numbers to his Bible classes, and made constant references to the astrological signs in his sermons and public addresses.

Judge James R. Armstrong was supposed to have turned the governor and his secretary toward the Rosicrucianistic cult. He took instructions from a Hindu Yogi who held classes in Oklahoma City and was said to have a great library of occult works.

JUST WHAT Rosicrucianism, anyway? This cult of the old alchemists has strong hold upon this modern world to-day, as is proven by the fact that it liberates the country over tell of a complete denuding of their shelves which held books on this subject.

Christian Rosenkreutz, who died in 1440, is supposed to be the father of the cult. Some say that the name came from him, although a preferred explanation is that it comes from "ros," meaning "dew," and "crux," meaning "cross." "Dew" was supposed to be the most powerful dissolvent of gold, used by the alchemists of old. The cross symbolized the four elements of ancient physics—body, mind, desire and will.

Original Rosicrucianism was rife with magic and alchemy. The quest for the eternal flame and "the philosopher's stone" cluttered its ancient ritual.

FULL OF STRANGE TALES

Old manuscripts of the Rosicrucians are full of weird tales.

There are tales of peasants finding mysterious iron-ringed flat stones in a field, raising them to find steps leading deep down into the earth, following the steps until they came into a great illuminated room, where sat a bent figure in a blinding white light; of how they swooned as they approached the figure, and revived in blackness, climbed back up the thousands of steps into the world once more, replaced the stone, ran away to tell the story, but returning, never found the stone again.

There are tales of opened tombs and the bodies of beautiful golden-haired girls swimming in a yellow oil; of the oil of gold which was supposed to be the secret of the ever-burning flame.

The stars and planets have a potency

Henry S. Johnson and Mrs. Johnson

In this cult, it is considered auspicious to reason and intelligence.

Jupiter, control power and action; Mars, irascibility; Venus, appetites, the sensual; Mercury, expression.

Rosicrucians say that—All things visible are invisibly produced by the contention of light with darkness. That—

Every body contains a certain possible deposit of the jewel of light, the basic element which the alchemists sought. That—

We humans are only living within other worlds. That—

All minerals have the possibilities of plants within themselves, just as plants have mineral attributes within themselves.

TRAVELING BY THOUGHT

Rosicrucianism stresses that human beings can travel by thought—can move at will wherever they choose. Man is where his consciousness is, the cult affirms, and he needs but to send his thought waves to Timbuctoo or Kalamazoo to be there. Quite an asset to a politician!

Modern Rosicrucians, however, accept only so much of the original tenets of the philosophy as they care to, making symbols of the rest.

They stress vegetarianism, the power of the stars, and thought migration. Their religion, "The Rosy Cross," is filled with salafy and egg plant recipes, warnings of the disasters from alcohol and tobacco, exhortations to wear no furs or feathers.

The stars, however, play as big a part in modern Rosicrucianism as in the day when a white-bearded astrologist scanned the heavens.

The Rosicrucians await with impatience our entrance into the Aquarian age, when the earth enters the constellation of Aquarius. This will begin about 2014 A.D. and last 2,156 years.

This era, they claim, will be marked by original endeavors along the lines of science, religion, mystery and altruism.

REPORT SHOWS ASSETS GROW

Encouraging Statements Shown at Meeting of Imperial Life Assurance Co.

The annual meeting of the Imperial Life Assurance Company of Canada in Toronto was presided over by G. A. Morrow, president. The report to the shareholders and policyholders indicated that the Imperial Life is not only in a sound position, but has done better than the average company, and is steadily building up its reserves and assets.

Assurances to the amount of $24,743,000 were issued and revived in 1933, and the total assurances at the end of the year stand at the substantial figure of $279,718,000. Cash income for the year from premiums and interest exceeded $12,250,000, and the cash disbursements during the year to policyholders and beneficiaries amounted to something over $9,000,000. The assets of the company were increased during the year over $1,100,000, and now amount to $68,573,000. During the four years of the depression the company's assets have been increased by over $10,700,000.

A further revaluation of the assets of all life companies took place at the end of the year, the Imperial Life using even a more stringent basis than required by the Dominion Insurance Department. The company's assurance liability reserves are computed on a basis which brings them out $1,100,000 in excess of government requirements, and in addition a contingency reserve of $1,000,000 is maintained.

J. F. WESTON

Managing Director of The Imperial Life Assurance Company, the annual meeting of which was held yesterday in Toronto.

These reserves total nearly $50,000,000, a sum greater than that of any previous year.

After provision for assurance and annuity liabilities, revaluing the company's securities, paying dividends to policyholders of $1,485,000, the company's surplus funds at the end of the year amounted to over $3,100,000. The growth of the company is proceeding on sound and well-balanced lines, and the management feels that conditions show a slow but definite improvement in Canada, and that increases in life insurance production may be looked for from now on in place of the annual reductions which have been shown during the last four years.

in Canada

The Most Responsive and richly concentrated markets of Canada are the cities where DAILY NEWSPAPERS are published

They contain 35.25 per cent. of the customers and do 65.57 per cent. of the retail trade of the whole Dominion. The new census figures reveal that 53.71 per cent. of Canada's population is urban.

These cities where daily newspapers are published are surrounded by supplementary—and just as desirable—markets, namely, suburban towns and country.

The Daily Newspapers have always given the advertiser a wonderful contact with the Canadian market from coast to coast. During this autumn and winter, when the business tide will be slowly and steadily rising, the newspapers will stand out pre-eminently from all other advertising media.

Where daily newspapers are published there is a yearly per capita buying power of $503—almost double the national average, which is $274.

The census shows that sales, as made in daily newspaper cities, are as follow:—

76.71 per cent. of clothing and apparel.
67.30 per cent. of drugs and toiletries.
64.35 per cent. of food.
60.84 per cent. of automotive sales.
58.50 per cent. of general merchandise.

These daily newspaper markets are outstanding, and the roads to them are clearly marked. The local newspapers, metropolitan or provincial, give daily and intimate access to the homes where this buying power is massed.

Does your selling plan need the concentration of special sales effort on specially desirable territories?

Are you trying to acquire the widespread support of dealer and consumer goodwill?

Do you need speed, coverage and control with economy of expenditure?

The Daily Newspapers in Canada help you as no other medium can Shall Girl Marry Man She Loves, Even Though She Must Help Support Husband's Extravagant Parents?

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I have been engaged to a young man for three years, but we cannot marry because of his family, as he has a mother and father and brother that he has to support. The family have always been extravagant. His parents are in their fifties and I often meet them at expensive shows where I have gone with some friends because my fiancé couldn't afford to take me. They oppose their son getting married because they want all the money he earns for themselves. I also earn a good salary, and my fiancé suggests that with what I make and a small part of his salary (the most of his earnings going to his family) we could get along, but I don't feel like agreeing to this nor to his proposition that I should go and live with his people, and that together we could support them. Since I have been at work I have always had my own car, good clothes and have gone with nice people, and I don't feel like giving these up in behalf of his family.

The situation seems hopeless. Don't tell me to give him up. I can't. He is the only one who has ever mattered in my life. Is there a way out?

DISGUSTED.

Answer—Looks as if you will have to decide which you care the most for, your sweetheart or your good clothes and good times and your car. And whichever one you choose, you will probably wish you had taken the other.

For, if you give up the man you love, you will be heart-hungry, and many and many a time you will think that a new fur coat doesn't give you the glow of warmth that you got out of the arms of the man you loved about you, and that good time will pass pretty fast when the one you care for most in the world is absent. And, if you give up your good clothes and your good times and your car for the boy friend, there will be plenty of occasions when you are shabby and hanging on to the strap of a street-car and when you can't afford even the price of a movie, when you will think that all the money that was ever promulgated the worst is that about "all for love and the world, well lost."

And that is just human nature. We want to eat our cake and have it, too, especially when it is wedding cake. We want all the pleasures and perquisites of love without having to pay the price, and the truth of the matter is that few of us are capable of a love big enough to enable us to sacrifice for it without regretting it.

There is no problem in the world that is harder to solve than that of how much of their lives and happiness children are called upon to sacrifice to their parents, because so much selfishness on the parents' part, so many false ideals of duty and so much silly sentimentality has got mixed up in it.

There are many parents who are ruthless in their demands on their children, or generally they are ruthless in their demands on some one particular child whom they have elected to the position of the family goat, and who they feel should support not only them, but the younger children. Often the father stops work as soon as the oldest child gets to earning enough to enable him to retire to a life of loafing, and he never afterward does a lick of work, although he is far more able to labor than is the frail young boy or girl upon whom he grafts his living.

Very often the older sister or brother is expected to forego all of the pleasures of youth, and even love and marriage, in order to send the other children to college and to give them indulgences the older one never had.

And because the poor goat has had "your duty to take care of your poor old father and mother" dinned into his ears until he has got a complex on the subject, and because mother weeps and says "how can you be so hard on your poor little brothers and sisters," whom she considers mere babes at twenty, when the goat suggests that they go to work, the cowed family beast of burden just goes dumbly on pulling the whole load.

He hasn't the spunk to say to father that any able-bodied man in his fifties has no right to become a parasite on his children. He is just as able to support himself as he ever was, and he could find a job if he wanted one. Nor does he have the nerve, if father and mother are too old or feeble to work, to put them in some place where he could pay their board instead of keeping them in a home where mother runs a free boarding-house for her white-haired darlings who will never strike a lick as long as they have somewhere to stay and three square meals a day.

So there you are. And we shall have the family problem with us as long as there are parents who let George do it all instead of doing as much as they can themselves. And the pity of it all is that poor George is not only made a martyr, but is forced to martyrize the girl he loves but cannot marry.

DOROTHY DIX.

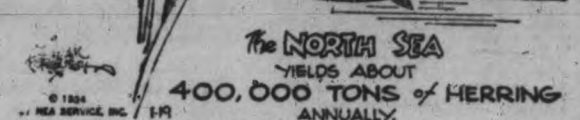

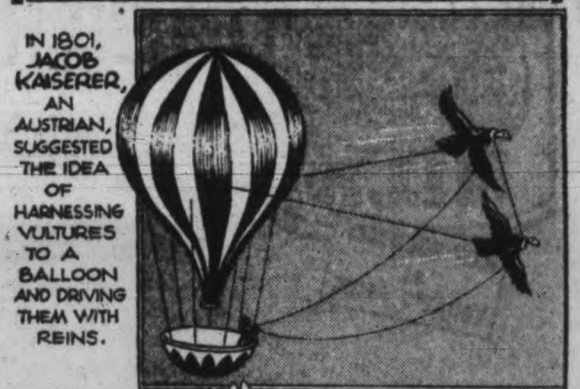

DEAR MISS DIX—Just where is the dividing line between endeavor and nagging?

Answer—It is whether we do it or it is done to us. It is persistent endeavor when we try to correct another's faults, nagging when they try to correct ours.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

By William Ferguson

The 400,000 tons of herring taken from the North Sea represent between five and six billion fish. Even this enormous figure is only a portion of the actual number of herring which enter the nets, for more escape than are caught.

Sentenced Man's Appeal Is Heard

Associated Press
San Francisco, Jan. 18.—The appeal of Jose Mayola, prominent mining engineer and property owner in Colombia, South America, from a conviction on a counterfeiting charge was argued before the United States circuit court of appeals here yesterday.

viated with two other men and sentenced to serve two years and pay a fine of $2,500 on a charge of conspiring to manufacture and pay counterfeit money.

PRISONER ENDS LIFE

Edmonton, Jan. 18 (Canadian Press)—Charged with the theft of soap valued at 93 cents, T. Gee Wong, forty, a laundryman for the civic relief department, was arrested Tuesday. Yesterday he was found dead. He hanged himself with his necktie early in the morning.

FRY'S COCOA
Dependable Quality since 1728

THE COMFORTING DRINK FOR KIDDIES!

Little red noses, chilly hands and feet soon get warm after a few sips of steaming hot Fry's Cocoa. Fry's is the very thing for children, especially in cold weather. They love its rich, chocolatey flavour, and Fry's contains every food element essential to health and growth. For 200 years wise mothers have been saying:

Women Busy In Many Spheres

Many Achievements to Their Credit in 1933; England's "Motherhood" Campaign

London (by Reuters) Jan. 17.—"Well, what did you women achieve in 1933?" a critical male asked rather pointedly when I was predicting great things for women in 1934.

A difficult question to answer in a few words, but here is the opinion expressed the other day by a well-known educationist:

"Quietly, steadily and without any ostentatious flourish of trumpets women have marched on towards the 'equality with men' goals."

In the Civil Service, for example, Miss M. M. Langwell won first place against 339 men in the open competition for inspectors of income tax.

At the Treasury a woman was appointed to the post of principal clerk for the first time in history.

At the London School of Dental Surgery a girl student carried off one of the most coveted awards—the Saunders Scholarship, which has always been given to a man.

A woman has become a member of the London Stock Exchange.

More and more women are training for lawyers and two women have set up the first firm of women solicitors in the country.

In aviation, the pioneer is Amy Johnson (Mrs. Mollison) who was awarded the Segrave Memorial Trophy for her solo flights between England and Capetown and from Capetown to England.

She is the first woman to hold this trophy, which is awarded to the British subject who, in the judgment of the awarding committee, accomplishes the most outstanding demonstration of the possibilities of transport by land, air or water.

In July, Mrs. Mollison helped her husband to set up a record when they flew the Atlantic together from East to West in twenty-nine hours.

ARE WOMEN TOO INDEPENDENT?
"Equality with men" does not always mean with approval.

Sir William Ray, the new head of the British Electrical Development Association, feels rather doubtful about it.

At a tea party at the headquarters of the Electrical Association for Women in London, he said: "One woman who is altogether wise to make women so independent of men as this place makes them. I do not think people should be encouraged to live a lone life."

After this rather depressing speech I was glad to find that an exceptionally large number of marriages were celebrated over Christmas.

MORE BABIES CAMPAIGN
The Italian "motherhood" campaign has spread to England.

A "League of National Life" has been formed in London to fight Great Britain's ever-decreasing birth rate.

This league considers that there should be at least three or four children in every family and, with this end in view, it intends to challenge the right of local council clinics to impart information on birth control.

It already includes among its members the Bishop of Exeter, the Bishop of St. Albans, the Chief Rabbi (Dr. Joseph Hertz), Lord Wolmer, the Rev. Dr. W. E. Orchard, Dr. Lyttleton (the former headmaster of Eton), Lady Winifred Elwes and the Dowager Countess of Chichester.

HISTORIC NECKLACE SOLD
The famous diamond necklace that Napoleon gave to the Empress Josephine has been sold.

A London diamond merchant has bought it after weeks of negotiations and, although the price cannot be divulged, it runs into thousands of pounds.

The necklace is so beautiful that it excites even experienced jewel merchants. This is how its present owner describes it:

"One of the world's dead romances comes to life again."

"It is a wonderful range of single stones held in a beautiful gold setting of the period. It is contained in the Empress's own red leather case embossed with a gold crown and the letter 'J'."

B.B.C. TRIES ANOTHER WOMAN
Miss Janet Beith, the twenty-six-year-old niece of Ian Hay, has been appointed the children's hour organizer at the north regional broadcasting studios, Manchester—an important British wireless station.

Miss Beith will have complete charge of all children's hour programmes for this station, but she will not be expected to broadcast herself—the B.B.C. are not going to repeat their woman announcer experiment.

Fame came first to Miss Beith in June this year when she won a £4,000 prize for her first book, "No Second Spring."

SAUSAGES AND SONGS
The most original evening party of the season has been given by Lady Titchfield at her town house in Portman Square.

It was a sausage and coffee party with an amateur entertainment in aid of invalid children.

The gaily-printed invitations said: "You are welcome to sit on the floor and starve, and for 2s extra you will be able to sit on a chair and eat. Please do not come if you think you will not enjoy it."

VIOLET HAIR
The fashion for pale violet hair has spread to London.

The most expensive hairdressers are now hard at work trying to persuade their well-haired patrons to accept a 'violet' finish. Madam—so youthful and becoming.

FORWARD EARS
A competition to find the owner of the "most beautiful ears in France" has just been held in Paris.

The winner was the Baroness de Beaufort. Her ears are particularly small and cling very close to the head. Small ears are supposed to be a sign of aristocratic breeding.

LYNCHERS TO ESCAPE TRIAL
Associated Press

San Jose, Cal., Jan. 18.—Unless more adequate testimony is submitted, the Santa Clara County grand jury had announced to-day it would not vote indictments in connection with the lynching of two confessed kidnap-slaves.

John M. Holmes and Harold Thurmond were lynched by a mob the night of November 27, following the finding of the body of Brooke L. Hart in San Francisco Bay. He was abducted and thrown into the water with concrete blocks wired to his body.

R. D. LEMMAX COUNCIL HEAD

Chosen President of Trades and Labor Body at Annual Meeting

R. D. Lemmax was unanimously elected president of the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council to succeed Harry Owen at the annual meeting in the Labor Hall yesterday evening when all posts, with the exception of one, were filled by acclamation.

Other officers chosen were: C. H. Lester, vice-president; James Wilson, secretary; R. W. Nunns, treasurer; P. Mattison, sergeant-at-arms; organization committee chairman, J. Casey; press committee, W. H. Youhill; legislative committee, Charles Chivers; hall committee, P. Oliver.

The only post for which there was a contest was for chairman of the hall committee, in which Mr. Oliver defeated J. Manson by twelve votes to five.

MINE EXPLOSION KILLS TWO MEN

Canadian Press
Rouyn, Que., Jan. 18.—An explosion 500 feet down in a shaft of the Armitfield gold mine near here yesterday killed two men, Patrick Theriault, thirty-two, and his brother, Telesphore Theriault, twenty-three. One other man was seriously injured and the remaining members of a party of five miners escaped with severe shock.

Tribute to the work of Frank V. Hobbs, who for many years served as chairman of the Saanich School Board, was paid in a personal letter from members of the 1933 board who served with him, forwarded yesterday evening. Each member of the 1934 board who served last year appended his name to the letter.

ONE OF THE
SECRETS OF FRENCH COOKERY
says Mary Blake

"HOW tempting a most ordinary food is made by the addition of an attractive sauce—one that is smooth and creamy, with delicate flavours well blended! The generous use of a variety of sauces is, to be sure, one of the secrets of French cookery," says Mary Blake in her famous book "100 Glorified Recipes".

And she might have added that the secret of a fine cream sauce is the use of Carnation Milk. Try the cream sauce recipe given here—for vegetables, fish, meats. Notice how smooth it is—how delicious—and how easy to make. Carnation Milk brings these results in all cooking where it is used because it is concentrated until it is twice as rich as bottle milk and because it is homogenized so that every drop is equally creamy. And you save money by using Carnation at to-day's price.

Write for two free booklets—"100 Glorified Recipes" and "Contented Babies." Carnation Co. Limited, 134 Abbott St., Vancouver

CLEVER SHOW AT DOMINION

"Jimmy and Sally" Opening To-day, Stars Jimmy Dunn and Claire Trevor

"Jimmy and Sally" opened at the Dominion Theatre this afternoon for a three-day engagement. The stars are Jimmy Dunn and Claire Trevor. Jimmy, cast as a high pressure press agent, is so sold on himself that he neglects his girl friend. She happens to be smarter than he believes her to be and as a result he gets more than one surprise. On more than one occasion she gives him pointers which help to build up his ego.
When he sings "It's the Irish in Me," one realizes that he reveals another talent hitherto hidden from screen audiences. The song was written by Sidney Claire while Jay Gorney wrote the music. This pair is responsible for some big hits and we believe that their efforts in "Jimmy and Sally" are among their best.
The supporting cast is composed of a number of able troupeurs whose skillful efforts are worthy of mention. Harvey Stephens, Lya Lys, Jed Prouty, George Roy, Alma Lloyd and John Arledge.

Charlie Chan At The Playhouse

Charlie Chan, that bland Chinese detective from Hawaii, will walk the screen again as "Charlie Chan's Greatest Case," the new Fox production, comes to the Playhouse Theatre to-day. It is Karl Derr Biggers' latest story, and was adapted for the screen by Lester Cole and Marion Orth. Charlie Chan is perhaps the most famous character in pictures to-day. "The Black Camel," "Charlie Chan's Chance" and "Charlie Chan Carries On" he created a following equalled by no other. Warner Oland, premier portrayer of Chinese characters, has established himself so well in this role that the name of Charlie Chan has become synonymous with his own. In "Charlie Chan's Greatest Case" he has a part that is said to be noteworthy for its plot, scenic background and meritorious acting of the Balinese.

"Goona-Goono" Here Saturday

Goono Goono is the title of the feature which opens Saturday at the Empire Theatre. "Goono Goono," a drama of love's reveals and sin's punishment, enacted throughout by the natives of Bali, an island east of Java. The picture is said to be noteworthy for its plot, scenic background and meritorious acting of the Balinese.

TWO PICTURES AT COLUMBIA

Dual roles and dual personalities on the stage and the screen and in real life form an intriguing history of their own.
Ronald Colman in the dual roles of "The Masquerader" revives the thrills and the heart-throbs of the famous and strange story of two men who looked so much alike that neither wife nor mistress could tell them apart. Samuel Goldwyn's presentation of the filmed English melodrama at the Columbia Theatre again emphasizes the fascinating fact that such things happen. Two men may look alike.
Also being shown on the same programme is "King of the Wild Horses"

Gloria Stuart Here Saturday

Gloria Stuart, featured in Universal's astounding drama of super science "The Invisible Man" coming next Saturday to the Capitol Theatre, might have wasted her blonde beauty behind a school teacher's desk but for the amateur college theatre in Berkeley, Cal., where she attended the University of California. The brilliant actress who has become Hollywood's most recent sensation, studied philosophy with her mind toward an academic career when the lure of the footlights proved too strong.

EMPIRE THEATRE

An excellent cast headed by G. Grey Smith, Dorothy Mackall and Paul Cavanagh in "Curtain at Eight," now showing at the Empire Theatre give to this Octavus Roy Cohen mystery drama the right amount of sympathetic character portrayal. Director E. Mason Hopper turned out an amusing and exciting film that combines both mystery and some very real moments of back stage life.

Where To Go To-night

Capitol—Myrna Loy in "The Conquering Sex."
Columbia—Ronald Colman in "The Masquerader."
Dominion—"Jimmy and Sally" with James Dunn.
Playhouse—"Charlie Chan's Greatest Case," with Warner Oland.
Empire—"Curtain at Eight," starring Dorothy Mackall.
Crystal Garden—Swimming.

"DANCING LADY" IS COMING HERE

"Dancing Lady," the latest musical hit from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio, is coming to the Dominion Theatre next Monday.
The appearance of Joan Crawford and Clark Gable in the same picture is an unmistakable sign that it will prove to be screen entertainment above the average.
The fine supporting cast in the production includes Franchot Tone, May Robson and Winnie Lightner and a number of other characters who will fit in beautifully with the story.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Max Baer, championship title contender and "lion of the ring," for years nursed the secret fear that he was "yellow."
The young man who in a few brief years battered his way up out of small-town obscurity into the limelight of world renown as a fighter, was the butt for his schoolmates' jokes.
Baer, the "white-haired boy" of the ring, soon to have a crack at the world's heavyweight championship title, turned actor at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios to play opposite Myrna Loy in "The Conquering Sex," the new film which is seen at the Capitol Theatre.

King Levinsky Now Leading Challenger Among Heavyweights

Two Years Ago Chicago Batter Was the Ring's Prize Clown

Hughie Gallacher and Chelsea Settle Their Differences

THERE never has been any doubt in the mind of King Levinsky as to the identity of the heavyweight champion of the world. The champion, the Kingfish, will tell you without any blushing, is Kingfish Levinsky. When Levinsky defeated Jack Sharkey last year he felt he was the kingpin among the big fellows. And the funny part of it is, the fellow who was the ring's prize clown two years ago, has developed into a foremost challenger. He is in New York awaiting the arrival from Germany of Max Schmeling, former world champion, for the purpose of attempting to secure a bout with the "German Demise."

There has not been a fighter like him since Jack Dempsey brought glimmer to the game. His misanthropic, his egotism is amazing. He went into the ring against Tommy Loughran at four to one odds. He plastered the Philadelphia dancing master to the floor, and the crowd, who were at the ropes and waved to the audience, saying: "Look at the old four-to-one on the floor."

Then, before his bout with Sharkey, Kingfish implied that the former Boston boy should continue his fighting to his fists and leave his mouth out of it, and that he, Levinsky, would see to it that perhaps Sharkey's teeth would chatter in the ring from fright, not from talking. Just before his recent tangle with Dan McCormick, South African heavyweight, Levinsky made the statement that "all English fighters are terrible." He went on to prove it by knocking McCormick to the canvas seven times.

Levinsky resembles the old-timers in his willingness to battle. Had he lived in the days of John L. Sullivan, Bob Fitzsimmons, Joe Choynski and the rest of them, he would have been right at home in those brawls that started before breakfast and finished after the evening meal. Like the old-timers, he has fought for nearly nothing, time after time, just for the chance to swing that roundhouse right hand. He has fought with Sharkey one instance, Jack got $25,000 and the Kingfish received about a tenth of that—which was divided among his family of twelve, headed by his sister-manager, Lena. The latter is his guiding influence. She makes his matches, handles his money and acts as his second.

Levinsky has fought all the topnotch heavyweights of the day except Max Schmeling. He has fought with Loughran, Paulino, Uscudun, Sharkey, McCormick and a bunch of other boys, and has dropped the nod to Max Baer, twice. Primo Carnera, tried, failed and was unpopular. Johnny Risko, twice, and Mickey Walker. The King seems to have found himself since his bout with Sharkey. While he has acquired no scientific moves, his right hand has developed dynamite. His system is to take a few blows, wade in the end and let his right hand fly from the floor. Outside of Baer, he probably is the biggest drawing card among today's heavyweights. In six fights during 1932, he helped to bring more than $275,000 into the gate at Chicago.

There have been many late going about in English football circles regarding Hughie Gallacher, Chelsea's Scottish international center-forward. It was said that he was on bad terms with the London club and he has been reported as saying, "Who would play for a club like Chelsea anyway?" There was even talk of Gallacher being transferred and Everton was mentioned. But now apparently everything has been patched up. Gallacher returned to the club after a brief absence recently and the whole side played much better than their position at the bottom of the table would suggest. In six fights during 1932, he helped to bring more than $275,000 into the gate at Chicago.

Following the incident over the ball used for the last English cup football final which resulted in the resignation of the honorary treasurer of the Football Association, it is expected that when the next cup final is played the ball question will be tackled from a different angle. Makers of football balls will be asked to submit plain balls and the make of each will be unknown to the selector.

Former To Meet Esquimalt; City Oppose Saanich

Great Matches Expected as Clubs Struggle For Second Half Championship

NEW REFEREES WILL BE SEEN

On Saturday afternoon the Victoria West and Saanich Thistles will continue their nip and tuck battle for first place in the second-half race in the first division of the Victoria Coast Football League. The clubs are at present tied for the premier berth, each with three wins and one defeat. The Wests will look horns with Esquimalt at Heywood Avenue, and the Thistles will hook up with Victoria City at lower Beacon Hill. The two second division fixtures bring together Esquimalt and the City at upper Beacon Hill, and the Thistles and Wests at Hampton Road.

The first division matches will be featured by the debut of a pair of new referees. Both have worked in previous seasons, but Saturday will see them handling the whistle for the first time this year. At Heywood Avenue McKay will be in charge, while the Thistles-City fixture will be handled by J. C. Dows. Robb and Saunders will look after the second division engagements. All games start at 2:30 o'clock.

Last week the Wests held their first place rating by rallying in the second half to defeat the City 2 to 0. The Thistles were dropping three straight, came back last week to end the win column again. The greenshirts will still be without "Scotty" Robinson, their regular centre-forward, and it is expected his position will be filled by Terry Peers.

While the teams are preparing for Saturday's matches, Victoria's recently-appointed board of four to handle football affairs on the lower island under the new British Columbia commission, has just about completed all arrangements for taking control. It is expected further information on just how the new board will operate here will be given out within a few days.

INVADING NET PLAYERS WIN

Shields, Hall and Lott Victors in Canadian Indoor Championships

Montreal, Jan. 18.—Big guns of United-States tennis resounded through the Montreal Indoor Tennis Club yesterday, as Frank X. Shields, New York, his country's top-ranking star; George Lott, Chicago; Davis Cup player, and Gilbert Hall, New York, swung into action in the Canadian covered court tennis championships.

At conclusion of play yesterday evening the three had swept aside all opposition in their march to the finals. Shields marched through the first and second rounds, defeating H. G. Marpole and J. E. Savard, both of Montreal, to place himself among the last eight.

Hall gained the final eight by scoring over H. P. Emard, young Montreal star, but only after dropping a set, 6-1, 5-7, 6-1. Hall came through the first round Tuesday by a default. Lott, who was a late arrival, played only one match, winning from Leslie Clegg, Montreal, 6-4, 6-4, and was to meet Jack Reitman in a delayed second round game today.

Each of the three United States players, paired with a Montrealer in the doubles, had little difficulty in advancing through first round play.

Cardinals Nose Out Lake Hill 19 to 18; Regents and New Method Victors

Featured by the overtime fixture in which the Cardinals nosed out Lake Hill girls, 19 to 18, yesterday evening's Victoria and District Basketball League games, at the High School, provided the fans with exciting finishes. Regents took the measure of the Deatals in the opening fixture by a 35 to 34 score, while the New Method Laundry quintette defeated the Normal School 19 to 16 in the last game on the programme.

REGENTS WIN

Facing an eight-point deficit at the conclusion of the first half, when the score stood 18 to 8, Regents 11, the latter team came through with a great last-half finish and nosed out their opponents, 36 to 34. Keen Track Battles Are Billed For Indoor Meet To-morrow

Runs For City Here To-morrow

Students Figured to Have Good Chances Against City's Best at Armories

Conceded points in the half-mile, mile, broad jump and shot put, Varsity's crack athletes to-day appeared to have as good a chance as the best Victoria talent in the track and field duels which will headline the Kiwanis-sponsored indoor meet at the Armories to-morrow evening. The Capitals based their main hopes for victory around Joe Addison, fleet-footed Flying "Y" ace who has been winning consistently in provincial meets during the last few seasons.

But Victoria will not depend solely on its one star, nor will Varsity pin all its hopes on Herb Barclay and Gordie Heron.

Both teams have exceptionally well balanced squads.

KEEN WOMEN'S CONTESTS

And while the men's squad, chiefly composed of Y.M.C.A. stalwarts, strives to uphold the city's honors in face of the stiff opposition from the University of British Columbia, local girls will be showing the same spirit in their duels with Bucky Kennet's young Alantas from Duncan. Several exceptionally good duels are expected in the women's section as the Victorians test their mettle against up-island performers who have proved their prowess in junior Canadian championships.

As a sidelight, boxing and wrestling events will add to the interest of the meet and the Shrine Band will provide music throughout the evening.

FAST STARTERS

Victoria's main hopes revolved around Joe Addison and Owen Bentley in the fifty-yard dash. But they will have to show particular speed to beat out Bill Stott and the Varsity dash men who are reported to be exceptionally fast on the getway.

Addison is figured almost a sure bet in the quarter-mile, while Bentley and the rest of the eventing when they carry the city's colors against Gordie Heron, Bill Stott and Don McTavish in the furlong sprint.

Herb Barclay is the students' dangerous man in the half-mile and mile. But he will have to move right along to beat Chuck Cunningham and Alex Gaunt in the eight-eighty.

The hurdles seemed to be a toss up to-day, with Stott and Harold Agnew representing the U.B.C. and Art Chapman and Joe Addison Victoria. Chapman is also figured a good bet in the high jump, which promised to be a close contest.

EXPECTED TO WIN

Gordie Heron is expected to gather in points for Varsity in the broad jump. He has been covering twenty-one feet consistently. Agnew may also take the shot put for the victors.

The relay, in which four competitors will each cover about 220 yards, appeared anybody's race to-day, with Victoria slightly favored.

During the evening the Aldous Memorial Cup will be presented to Chuck

Toronto Leafs Are A-star Team In Opinion Of Critics

Are Just About Unanimous Choice For High Rating in N.H.L.

Crucial Matches Billed To-night

By George Maguire
Canadian Press Staff Writer
New York, Jan. 18.—Its getting to be just about unanimous that the Toronto Maple Leafs are the all-star team of the National Hockey League.

Just the other day Bill Cook, an all-star right-winger for years, and captain of the New York Rangers, world-champions, picked the Leaf aggregation as such. He selected Harvey Jackson as the greatest left-winger.

Now along come two coaches and the two players to pick on skaters of the league champions as their ideal puckmen.

Lester Patrick, coach of the Rangers, chooses Irvin "Ace" Bailey. Coach Joe Simpson of the Americans, thinks Jackson the best all-round player. Johnny Gottselig of the Chicago Black Hawks and Dave Trotter of the Montreal Maroons are quite emphatic in their belief there is no right winger at present who can compare with Charlie Conacher, the Leafs' and the league's leading sniper.

DEFINITE ON CONACHER
Gottselig, a native of Regina, where they must feed their youngsters plenty of porridge and spinach, judging by the continuous flow of hockey stars from that centre, waved his hands in a gesture of despair. "What's the use," he said, "one can't choose anyone but Conacher. You stop and think of all the right wingers you have played against and think maybe, we'll say Bill Cook, or Finnigan or Babe Selbert are the toughest you have played against. They all have some fine points. Then you look at the scoring records and, oh well, what's the use, it's Conacher."

Trotter was of the same mind.

Two young recruits who, in their last time out, got more pucks past Charlie Gardiner than many veterans do in a season, test their sharpened scoring noggins against Detroit's sensational new goalie to-night in a game that may set Montreal Maroons' course for the second half of the National Hockey League season.

Russell Blinco, recently promoted from Wings, and Bill MacKenzie, Winnipeg product, each got two goals against Chicago Tuesday night and figure that if they can do that with the Leafs, they will be in the money for the Stanley Cup.

The Montrealers invade Detroit in quest of two points that will tie them with the Leafs for first place in the league's Canadian section, a spot they haven't heard before this season. Eddie Gerard's men also figure on evening their series with the Red Wings, who hold the edge with one win and two ties.

When "Ace" Bailey arrived in Toronto to-day his teammates of the Toronto Leafs were preparing to meet Boston Bruins in their first Toronto encounter since the winger was injured in the Hub Decemur. Both managers have stressed to their players the necessity of clean hockey.

Leafs hold an advantage over the Bruins on the season with two wins and a tie in three games. Leadership of the United States section probably will be decided tomorrow night in the main contest when the two top teams, Rangers and Chicago, clash. The teams have staged notable games on three occasions since November with never more than a goal separating them in the final score. Rangers have the edge with two wins in three games.

H. PAULDING ON TOP

Spilling the pins all over the alley pits for an aggregate score of 1,710, and an average of 229 after playing in thirty games, Harold Paulding, star bowler of the Y.M.C.A. five-pin artists, topped the averages of the Senior Five-pin League at the Olympic Recreations. Cliff Steele, skipper of Strath's team, was second, and Jack Howell, member of Our Own Brand Butter pin spillers, was third.

Taking three straight games from the Maple Leafs in the final fixtures of the league series enabled the Standard Steam Laundry mangle-makers to finish in top berth in the first half of the schedule. Our Own Brand Butter aggregation followed closely behind the winners, with but two wins less to their credit. The Times, Tillam Athletic Club and Spencer's Hairdressing tied for third place.

Harold Paulding rolled the best single and three-game total with scores of 227 and 264, respectively. Honors for the best single game score were annexed by Standard Steam Laundry with 1,257. They also won the high three-game total by spilling 3,467 pins.

Al Karasick Wins Over Rocky Brooks

Seattle, Jan. 18. — Charlie Hanson, 200, Seattle, won two out of three falls yesterday evening to defeat Howard Cantonwine, 210, Iowa, in a wrestling match, taking the deciding fall in the fourth round with a rollover body slam.

Marvin Westenberg, 220, Tacoma, won from Jack Kogut, 210, Montreal, also in two out of three falls. The deciding fall was in the fourth, with an airplane scissor.

Al Karasick, 200, San Francisco, used a Boston crab in the fourth to win a one-fall decision over Rocky Brooks, 206, Victoria, B.C.

LYNN PATRICK AT CENTRE

His many Victoria friends will be interested in this new picture of Lynn Patrick, showing him in the uniform of the Montreal Royals, one of the leading senior ice hockey teams in the east. During the late summer and early fall, Lynn distinguished himself on the Canadian football field in the latter half of his time to hockey. In one of the recent games he was moved into the centre position on the first string line, where he was playing for some time. In a letter to a member of The Times' staff, Lynn also tells of spending the Christmas holiday season in New York with his famous dad, Lester, the occasion, incidentally, being the first on which the entire Patrick family had been together at Christmas. In many years, Lynn turned out daily to work out with the New York Rangers' team. "Muzz," Lynn's younger brother, is also a shining light in eastern sport, showing up particularly well on the basketball court.

Veterans of Yarrow Plant Honor Chief

Six Oldest Employees Take Norman A. Yarrow By Surprise; Firm Has Had Notable Record During Twenty Years

Twenty years ago yesterday the late Sir Alfred Yarrow, head of the great shipbuilding and marine engineering firm of England, took over the B.C. Marine Works at Esquimalt harbor. In celebration of this milestone in the history of one of the best known ship repairing firms on the coast, the six oldest employees took their chief, Norman A. Yarrow, by surprise in his office yesterday afternoon and made a presentation to him.

The Yarrow firm has met with much success since establishing itself at Esquimalt. Its workmen have repaired hundreds of ships, from the giant Pacific Ocean liner Empress of Japan to freighters and tiny fishing boats. Vessels flying the flag of practically every maritime nation in the world have come to Esquimalt harbor for repairs by Yarrow's Limited.

ALL VETERANS

The six oldest employees of the firm, deep-sea divers, A. W. Stewart, foreman blacksmith, Robert A. McKean, cooper, foreman; John Cameron, general office manager; William E. A. Barclay, timekeeper; and A. J. Daniels, joiner shop foreman. Mr. de Costa is the veteran of them all, having been with the B.C. Marine Works for twelve years before the Yarrow firm was taken over by Yarrow's. The other five have been there for about twenty-seven years. Their services were retained when Yarrow's Limited took over the old British shipyard.

Mr. Yarrow was made the recipient yesterday of a handsome desk pen and pencil set and calendar and Mrs. Yarrow was honored with a magnificent basket of bronze chrysanthemums. Miss Anne Proctor, of the office staff, made the presentation. The Yarrow firm expressed their appreciation to Mr. Yarrow for his many kindnesses to them during their twenty years' association at Esquimalt. Mr. Yarrow, who was completely taken by surprise, expressed his thanks to his veteran employees and their gifts to himself and to Mrs. Yarrow and voiced appreciation of the fine work they had always done for the Yarrow firm.

The front of the Yarrow office building was gay with flags and bunting for the occasion, while from the flagpole atop the main entrance fluttered a bright new Union Jack, the gift to Mr. Yarrow by D. B. Robinson, secretary of the firm.

WILL LAUNCH NEW VESSEL

Lighthouse Tender Hemlock to Be Sent Down Ways in Seattle on Saturday

Seattle, Jan. 18.—One hundred per cent Seattle built, including labor, all materials and equipment, except boilers and pumps which came from the east, the steel lighthouse tender Hemlock will be sent down the ways at the Berg Shipbuilding Company, Saturday afternoon.

The vessel will be christened by Mrs. Lillian W. Tinkham, of Portland, wife of R. B. Tinkham, superintendent of the Seventeenth-Lighthouse District. The Hemlock is designed for service in Alaskan waters to carry supplies to the isolated stations of that northern region. She measures 174.6 feet over all, with a beam of thirty-two feet. Representing an expenditure of $240,000, the job of construction of the hull and equipment provided work for 272 men for the last two weeks.

Other Seattle firms which participated in the building include the Washington Iron Works, which manufactured the twin triple-expansion engines of 500 horsepower each; the Isaacson Iron Works, which fabricated the steel; Allan Cunningham, who is providing all auxiliary equipment; and the Pacific Coast Sheet Metal Works, builders of the stack and similar essentials.

The Berg Shipbuilding Company was low bidder recently on a sister ship, but official award of the contract has not yet been made.

Byrd Offers Plane To Rival Party

Associated Press
London, Jan. 18.—The Dundee, N.Z., correspondent of the Reuters news agency informed yesterday that Admiral Richard E. Byrd had offered to lend one of his planes to Lincoln Ellsworth to conduct a proposed Antarctic survey flight.

The Ellsworth plane which Bert Balchen was to pilot was badly damaged and Admiral Byrd's offer was intended to permit the rival expedition to carry on with its plans.

The offer, however, was not accepted.

CARNERA IS BACK IN U.S.

Heavyweight Ring Champion Arrives to Prepare For Loughran Bout

New York, Jan. 18.—One oversized shipment of heavyweight champion Primo Carnera was deposited upon New York's shores yesterday, as the little caudron sized and bubbled in expectation of an old-fashioned revival.

"Ho, ho," roared the Genoa Goliath, as he stomped down the gangplank of an Italian liner. "I feel the Tommy Loughran quick. I knock him out in ten rounds, sure."

Thus did the grinning champion get to the very heart of the opening business of the day. He fights Loughran fifteen rounds in Miami, Fla., February 22. To-day he started training his 272 pounds down to a modest 258 or thereabouts. He expects to leave for Florida Monday, after a suitable training camp has been chosen.

He was full of ginger, optimism and lack of respect for Loughran, whom he said he had seen fight three times, and whom he also couldn't see as a dangerous heavyweight.

His large American automobile, which accompanies him on his transatlantic voyages, was without 1934 Atlantic plates. In manœuvring the vehicle off the boat and on to the dock, he pinned to a wall a newspaper man who was trying to direct the proceedings, ripped his clothes, frightened him speechless, but did not injure him otherwise.

So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores invite every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with guarantee of money back if it does not cure their Piles, no matter how stubborn the case? (Adv.)

Without Salves or Cutting

"Thousands of sufferers from itching, bleeding or protruding piles have learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves nor cutting remove the cause.

Bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel causes Piles. The veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To and Piles an internal medicine must be able to stimulate the circulation, heal and restore the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonard was the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy. He called his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1,000 patients, with the marvelous record of success in 960 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID tablets from their own druggist with a rigid money back guarantee.

"Thousands of sufferers from itching, bleeding or protruding piles have learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves nor cutting remove the cause.

Bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel causes Piles. The veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To and Piles an internal medicine must be able to stimulate the circulation, heal and restore the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonard was the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy. He called his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1,000 patients, with the marvelous record of success in 960 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID tablets from their own druggist with a rigid money back guarantee.

WESTERN GRID LOOP PLANNED

Vancouver Teams Would Play
With Edmonton and Calgary in New League

Vancouver, Jan. 18.—Vancouver grid enthusiasts are mulling over the possibility of an inter-provincial four-team Canadian Football League next fall, including the teams of Vancouver and Edmonton Eskimos and Calgary Athletes.

The suggestion has been made that each coast team make a tour of the prairies, playing one game in each city there and entertaining the Alberta teams on a similar tour here. This would eliminate the necessity of holding a British Columbia-Alberta play-down series.

The big obstacle is financial. Gates of about $1,500 would be required to finance such a scheme. If a way can be figured out to get around the financial part of it, grid-ders here believe the idea would take on the prairies and would certainly inject new life into the game on the coast.

Sax Crossley, president of the Western Canada Rugby Football Union and former official of the British Columbia Rugby Union and the Big Four (Vancouver, Seattle, Portland, and Tacoma) meetings, said he had heard nothing officially on it yet.

"I have heard conjectures on the

Tilden's Right to World
Pro Crown

Palm Beach, Fla., Jan. 8.—If Bill Tilden is calling himself world professional tennis champion and if his matches with Ellsworth Vines and other pro performers are billed as championship engagements, Hans Nusslein of Germany wants to know about it.

Nusslein asserted he defeated Tilden at Berlin, last September, by scores of 1-6, 7-5, 6-4, 6-3, in a match for the world championship, and that he played in Europe, last year.

And further, he will play Tilden or Vines any time they like "under proper conditions," with "my title" at stake. Nusslein is an instructor here.

GOLF WINNER IS BRILLIANT

Harold McSpaden Reels Off
Sensational 62 to Win
Santa Monica Tourney

Santa Monica, Cal., Jan. 18.—Shooting one of the greatest competitive rounds in the history of the ancient and honorable game of golf, Harold McSpaden, Quivera Lake Golf Club, Kansas City, Kan., turned in a 62 individual card, yesterday, to win the Santa Monica amateur-pro championship.

McSpaden's amazing score for the 6,151-yard Cloverfield Municipal course, plus the contribution of a stroke by his amateur partner, Don Erickson, Los Angeles public links player, gave them a 61 to win the title, ten strokes better than par. Victory gave to McSpaden $200.

After his remarkable round, the twenty-five-year-old jayhawker won the driving contest, an additional feature of the tournament—to pick up $50 prize money. His best individual drive was 301 yards, and his average for three balls was 278 yards one foot eight inches.

TIE FOR SECOND
Two teams tied for second place, a stroke behind McSpaden and Erickson, but there was no player on the course, yesterday, who could even approach the Kanian's perfect round. George Von Elm and Stanley Turner, Los Angeles, and Mortie Dutra, Detroit, teamed with E. R. Maula, Santa Monica amateur, had composite cards of 62.

McSpaden achieved nine birdies on the course, five on the back nine, and did not miss par on the other nine. His drives were long, and through the entire eighteen, his approaches were dead to the pin.

Erickson, one of the best amateurs in Southern California, shot a par 71 on this course—but still was able to assist McSpaden only on the fourth hole.

Here he made a handicap stroke good for a birdie 3, when both had taken par 4's.

PRO BASEBALL FOR JAPANESE

"Lefty" O'Doul on Return
From Far East States Game Making Much Progress

San Francisco, Jan. 18.—Organized professional baseball in Japan within a year was predicted here today by Frank "Lefty" O'Doul, outfielder of the world champion New York Giants.

Arriving here on the liner President Hoover after a tour of the island nation, O'Doul declared:

"There is bound to be professional baseball in Japan. They have plenty of talent graduating from the universities and colleges and that timber will increase, naturally. The interest is so hot that professional baseball ought to pay well."

O'Doul said he "would not be surprised" if the one professional team that is now being organized in Japan came to the United States next year to play American pro nines.

LIFE-SAVING CRAFT

To the Editor:—I was a witness—helpless to be of any real service—of the regrettable tragedy off Poul Bay. My purpose in writing is to say that if a boat of the sealing-boat type had been available the rescue could have been accomplished without loss of life.

During years of sealing on the Pacific I have on many occasions seen these grand little boats return to the parent vessel when the storm king ruled the seas. They are not costly to construct, can be manned by two or four, are easily launched, and with a searchlight operated from a storage battery, would, I am very sure, be what is urgently needed.

MR. STOTT'S WISH

To the Editor:—There has been a suggestion put forward that recommendation go from this city to the Royal Humane Society for recognition on my behalf. While deeply appreciating the sentiments of those who have thought of the matter, I would request them to refrain from taking such action.

The mere fact that I was more fortunate than the others can hardly signalize me as being more worthy of the society's award than they. I would rather not be singled out. They did their best. They risked as much as I and they are equally entitled to credit.

I and the members of my family wish to express our gratitude to those who spared no effort in the assistance they gave my uncle and my friend.

We started giving Toys away to kids of the UNEMPLOYED. Some tried to slip one over, and we're very much annoyed. It was meant for kids of the UNEMPLOYED. Kids of men not hired. Not those who had fat pensions. Or those who live retired.

PROGRESSIVE YEAR SHOWN

Fairfield United Church Annual Reports Indicate Satisfactory Term Completed

Reports indicative of a progressive year for all departments of the church were submitted by officials to the annual meeting of the Fairfield United Church congregation yesterday evening. The meeting was held in the church and attended by 125 members.

Rev. Dr. E. A. Henry, the pastor, presented a review of the 1933 work, expressing his thanks to all branches for their co-operative effort and assistance. He noted a slight falling off in the attendance at church services and hoped 1934 would see a revival in this regard.

The following submitted reports from their respective departments: A. Lantow, session board; J. A. Schroeder, board of stewards; J. Armstrong, treasurer and missionary and maintenance; Mrs. Warren, Daisy Missionary Band; Mrs. G. Green, Women's Missionary Society; Mrs. A. C. Pike, women's association; J. Johnston, men's club; and L. Abbott, the choir.

Votes of appreciation were accorded C. C. Warn, organist and choirmaster; and Dr. Henry, both replying suitably. The evening closed with the serving of refreshments by the women's association.

COLLEGE NOTES

A meeting of the Students' Christian Movement was held at noon to-day when an address was delivered on "The Social Teachings of the Greatest Monarch." Last week's topic was "A Study of the Greatest Statesmen of the Egyptian Era."

On the evening of February 1, at 9 o'clock, the swimmers of the College Swimming Club will meet the stars of the Pacific Swimming Club in a gala at the Crystal Garden. There will be seventeen events altogether and there will be a large body of students to root for the collegiate swimmers. The programme will be posted shortly.

A demand for a public speaking class has arisen at Craigdarroch and many students have banded for the formation of the club. Dr. Chas. Davies will conduct the classes if a sufficient enrolment is obtained.

A meeting of the College Badminton Club was held on Monday at noon to organize ladder tournaments for the continuation of the season at the Wilfrid courts. The tournaments will be played on Wednesday afternoons and the partners will be drawn in the near future.
